Train Vote In March

Voters will have another opportunity to vote on continued train service to the three Andover stations at the annual town meeting in March.

The action taken by the selectmen Monday night in insuring another vote on the issue is expected to provide continued train service to the town.

The MBTA board was notified of the action Tuesday by Town Manager J. Maynard Austin and Chairman Milton Greenberg formally notified the transit board of trustees by letter on Wednesday.

The selectmen had received indication that if they voted to bring the matter back to the town meeting in March and recommend approval, then the MBTA would continue its service to Andover. At the Oct. 7 town meeting, the town voted not to pay for continued service by a vote of 184-180.

Chairman Greenberg reported to his colleagues that the transit division had felt the annual town meeting was a better forum for consideration of the issue.

Monday night, Atty. Robert Zollner presented to the board petitions containing the names of over 400 persons from the area now served by the once-a-day MBTA commuter train, asking that the service be continued.

His presentation was supported by others containing the names of an additional 200 persons.

Zollner said the petitions were to present tangible evidence to the MBTA of the interest in the continued train service.

The selectmen asked those who had obtained the

Joint Meeting Tuesday

By Robert E. Finneran
Managing Editor

The first step in the procedure of filling the school board vacancy created by the resignation of John Wragg, will get underway next Tuesday night at West Elementary school auditorium.

The remaining four members of the school committee will meet with the selectmen at that time to organize in joint session for the election of a person to fill the position until the March election.

It is expected that for the first time since the election last March, the school board majority will have its power diminished.

There appears little doubt that the five member board of selectmen will control the meeting, acting in unanimity, its first step being to elect a chairman of the joint session, expected to be Chairman Milton Greenberg of the selectmen.

Greenberg said this week that the proposed agenda for next Tuesday night will include organization and the submitting of proposals and establishing rules of order.

He said no public discussion will be entertained.

There will be no discussion of educational policies or philosophies, Greenberg stated.

Nominations will be accepted by the chair and each nomination must receive two seconds. It more than one nomination is made, voting will take place at a subsequent meeting, Greenberg stated.

Thus, it would appear that the vacancy will not be filled at next Tuesday's session.

Since last March with the re-election of Francis Griggs and the election of George Olesen to the school committee, there has been an almost complete majority position on issues among the two coupled with John Lyons and the recently resigned Wragg. Only Committeeman William Lane has been in opposition.

There have been numerous candidates seeking the vacancy.

The person elected by the joint session, would have to run for election to fill out the term at the March election. Wragg's term expires in 1976.

Ballot Questions Published

The ballot questions, six in all, which will be acted upon at the Nov. 5 election are printed in their entirety in today's TOWNSMAN.

It is recommended that citizens examine and read the referenda items in order to be prepared to cast affirmative or negative votes on election day.

Prior knowledge of the item to be acted upon before entering the polling booths, will expedite the election process and alleviate long lines on election day.

Evaluation Scored

Administration Charged With Negativism

An Andover parent Tuesday night expounded the virtues of standardized tests as a means of determining accountability and evaluation of teachers, and accused the administration of "negativism" toward accountability, particularly in regard to standardized tests.

Ralph Wilbur was then followed to the stage by another parent, Dr. Frederic A. Wallace, who said Wilbur's lengthy, 35-minute report was "not constructive."

"Like Mr. Wilbur, I too have a deep concern about the quality of our town's school system," Wallace said, but claimed that test results should be "only one" of a whole series of criteria on which performance appraisal ought to be based. He then presented a model for evaluation of teachers and administrators which Wilbur, in turn, called "vague."

The exchange came mid-way during Tuesday night's three-hour discussion on evaluation, and the committee never got beyond that first item on the agenda.

Other matters - policies, math results, non-residents attendance at school committee meetings, grade reorganization, and legal counsel, were then scheduled to be taken up after last night's budget meeting at West Jr. High.

Details will be printed in next Thursday's TOWNSMAN.

Tuesday's session was another chapter in an on-going discussion on evaluation that was triggered in part last spring when Assistant Superintendent Edward Regan was dismissed, and English Department Head William Becker demoted. In the absence of formal evaluation procedures, the administration asked the school committee for a policy and the committee, in turn, asked the administration for recommendations.

Griggs, at the close of Tuesday's meeting, admitted

Police, Fire Units Claim Runaround

Andover's public safety unit, engaged in the collective bargaining process, is claiming it is getting the run-around from administrators.

John Gibson, president of the Andover Police union, appeared before the selectmen Monday night asking if he could confer with them concerning an apparent impasse in the negotiating process.

Gibson said that both his department and the fire department had been going back and forth with the town manager for about a year and now that this impasse has been reached would like to talk with the selectmen directly.

The police union president said that in conferences with

Education Forums Scheduled

Five weeks of forums on "Education Today," have been scheduled by Christ Episcopal Church, Andover, beginning with the forum hour programs in the parish hall at 10:15 and 11:20 a.m.

The church has expressed a concern about the situation in the Andover school system, pointing out that what started out as a confrontation over educational methods has now polarized around the personalities concerned.

The forums are an effort, the church leaders state, to take the focus away from the current polarization of personalities and put it back on exploring the best means of educating children in today's society.

This Sunday, the rector, Rev. J. Edison Pike and director of Christian Education, will lead a forum of non-professionals who are concerned about children's education. The forums will be concerned with finding the answers to two questions: "What Do I Expect the public schools to do for the children? and What are the questions I would like to ask educators today? These answers will be tabulated and presented to the forum speakers appearing in subsequent weeks.

Scheduled forum speakers are: Nov. 3, Graham Down, director of the Council for Basic Education, Washington, D.C.; Nov. 10, Theodore R. Sizer, headmaster, Phillips Academy; Nov. 17, Rev. Raymond A. Nelson, headmaster, Pike school and on Nov. 24, a speaker from the Mass. State Board of Education.

Invitations have been extended to the Andover school committee members, the superintendent of schools and the Andover Teachers Union to attend these forums.

Casper Subject To Restraint

Casper, a collie, owned by the Orrell family at 373 Salem St., will be restrained between the hours of 6 and 8 a.m. and 4 and 6 p.m. by order of the selectmen, following a hearing by the board Monday night.

The hearing was a result of complaints filed by Mrs. James

L. Hills, 19 Jenkins Road, who reported that the dog has acted maliciously toward her as she takes daily walks by the Orrell home.

The restraint order was approved after the selectmen had attempted to work out a solution between the two families, but with no success as Mrs. Hills was reluctant to accept anything but restraint of the animal.

Dog Officer Donald Porter, who had ordered the dog restrained for longer periods, pending investigation of the complaints, informed the board that he could find no one in the area with the exception of the Hills who determined the dog to be malicious or a nuisance.

Porter said that he had no trouble with the dog, noting that Casper had licked his hand as he approached in the driveway, causing Chairman Milton Greenberg to comment to the dog officer, "he obviously knows what he's doing."

Mrs. Orrell said she had offered to work out a solution to the problem such as keeping the dog restrained, if Mrs. Hills would inform her when she was going out for a walk.

Mrs. Hills said that she goes out at varying times daily.

Mrs. Hills said she had been faced with the problem for 14 months and that she just felt she should have a right to walk freely and without disturbance on a public highway.

Since there was obviously no way in which the matter would be compromised, Selectman Edward Sullivan motioned for the restraint order to be issued. When Mrs. Hills asked for an hour extension on each end, the board immediately voted to approve only the hours as recommended by Selectman Sullivan.

Even Karl Haartz' suggestion that the masters of the two dogs (The Hills own a Golden Retriever) get together and feed each animal some hamburger, didn't succeed. Haartz felt that if the two dogs could see there was no animosity, then possibly difficult human relations could be suaved.

Evaluation Scored

that this was a "difficult process" and that the committee "won't rush through it."

He said Tuesday's presentations, along with a letter from Mrs. Esther Howard which included further model suggestions, would all be considered in their decision process.

Wilbur led off by expressing his "concern in the realization" that the Andover school system really has no formalized evaluation procedure.

"The concept of evaluation, standards and measurable performance is not foreign to this committee," he went on, citing that one of the planks in Dr. Griggs' election platform was "program evaluation," while John Lyons had sought "thorough evaluation of existing school programs." He also quoted William Lane as saying that "Our school system programs new and old must be constantly and critically evaluated for effectiveness and merit."

"Why is it then that months, even years after these words were uttered," Wilbur went on, "Andover has as yet no real evaluation or accountability program for its teachers and administrators, not to mention its students and educational programs? Why is it that when the topic of evaluation and accountability finally comes to the fore at these meetings, we witness only half-hearted attempts which barely skirt the periphery of the problem? Perhaps there are underlying reasons for this posture."

"While evaluation may be a tricky and sometimes unpleasant business," he went on, obviously much good flows from it in terms of better preparation of students, greater job satisfaction for the teacher, and greater value for the taxpayers' education dollar. Very likely, one of the deterrents to implementation of an evaluation program is the tenure law.

He went on to say that "the teaching profession is the only field where periodic raises are guaranteed, and where demotion, or even failure to promote can result in legal action. In such a climate it is small wonder that evaluation arouses such little enthusiasm."

"Additional evidence of the Andover school system's negativism, toward accountability," he said, "has been its negative position against the publication of system wide standardized tests and college board results. Such scores provide a vital link in the evaluation and standard setting phases of accountability in education."

"It is with great concern that I observe this committee's deliberations with the school administration center around internally established objectives not concretely linked to external standards," he went on. "The inherent danger in such practice was demonstrated during your last meeting."

"If our school system indulges in its own goal setting without close ties to external criteria, it will automatically result in establishment of low standards of achievement for our youngsters."

To be objective, accountability for teacher and administrative must be tied to externally derived standards.

In closing, he warned "that we must be wary of the resentment of some educators against the proposals and criticism given by lay people."

"The fact is that education is only in part a technical enterprise," he said, while "it is the citizen who supports the school, who also decides what the school should do and who is ultimately the judge of what is done. Public educators are our servants."

Wallace, like Wilbur, expressed "a deep concern about the quality of our town's school system," and agreed that "periodic performance appraisal of teachers and administrators is essential if we are to maintain our present high level of quality in education."

He said he would "respectfully disagree" with Wilbur, however, on the negative attitudes. What he saw, he said,

"is a negative attitude on their part about the climate in which the subject is being discussed."

He said the tone of Wilbur's statement was not constructive, and "carries with it the connotation that evaluation is designed to force them into submission. In so doing he destroys any chance for acceptance of the idea by them."

"In my view," he went on, "administrators and teachers would eagerly accept an equitable system of performance appraisal, once it has been shown them that it is to their benefit to do so."

He also agreed with Wilbur's suggestion of using standardized test results to discover strengths and weaknesses of elementary schools, and as one element in developing evaluating principals. He added one "important" reservation, however, that "the emphasis should be on test results being one -- only one of a whole series of criteria on which performance appraisal ought to be based. The total evaluation process involves many things. The idea of using standardized test results alone is seductive by its simplicity, but the pitfalls are enormous."

Test results must be viewed and interpreted with great care and caution, Wallace went on. The test publishers emphasize this, he said, and he quoted a U.S. Office Education study which concluded that performance on standardized tests was more influenced by outside factors such as socioeconomic background and neighborhood environment, than anything else.

He used as an example the results of the math computation part of the recent standardized tests. Bancroft sixth graders scored a grade equivalent of 8.6, he said, while South School sixth graders scored at grade level 7.2.

"Now does this mean that South School faculty are not doing their job?" he asked. "Would you consider it fair or equitable to evaluate your performance solely on the basis of results such as these?"

It could actually be, he said, that given the raw material they had to work with, the South faculty was doing better, working harder and achieving more than those at Bancroft.

Wallace, who is a research supervisor in a Boston firm, responsible for annual appraisal of 10 people, then presented a model for performance appraisal. His main suggestions follow:

1. Appraisal of a new administrator or teacher twice in the first year, then annually until election to tenure. The appraisal, he said, should be a time for reflection on accomplishments of the past year, as well as for a career planning discussion. The appraisal, he said, could be keyed into the merit increase cycle.

2. Evaluation by the immediate supervisor -- team coordinators, department heads, or principals, on up to the superintendent, who would be evaluated by the school committee and the school committee, in turn, by the voters.

3. Both written and oral evaluations, and if the teacher and supervisor were in disagreement as to the former's performance, he would record his view in writing and send it to the next higher supervisor.

4. If a non-tenured administrator or teacher has been judged to have unsatisfactory performance, he said, he should be informed in writing and orally, and told what is expected of him. If he continues to be unsatisfactory, he should be informed that his re-election is in jeopardy.

Trains

signatures to indicate to the board how many are from Andover proper.

Chairman Greenberg apologized for the selectmen not articulating their views more explicitly at the October town meeting. He said that the board had information relative to the cost factor involved in the MBTA train -- the town paying only the marginal costs of crew, and that the possibility of providing six additional trains per day for Andover.

Later in the meeting, the chairman again expressed the feeling that it was the board's fault for not getting the information to the voters at the special session, while again expressing his objection to the special town meeting and also the number of voters who attend the town's legislative sessions.

John S. Sullivan spoke in favor of the continued train service, emphasizing that he felt that the Trombly Motor Coach Co., provides a necessary service and an excellent backup to the train. He pointed out that in his opinion the bus does not have the comfort and safety of the train and that it takes longer to get to his Boston destination when the bus is used.

Following further favorable comments regarding the train, Col. Joseph E. Cove of Rock Ridge Road, who had opposed the issue at the October session, again registered his objections.

Col. Cove said he felt that if Andover supports about one-half of the train based on ridership then the transit authority should use an inverse ratio in assessing costs.

Cove also said that if the selectmen approved bringing the issue back, then it would be going overboard, in that it returns to the floor with an issue already defeated. "If the October meeting does not have the force of law, then why have it at all," he asked.

Cove also commented on the fact that the town is being asked to pay for a service used by only a few.

Karl Haartz of High Plain Road also expressed objection to the matter returning to the annual town meeting, expressing as he did at the session this month, that there is sufficient transportation available to Boston without the subsidized train service.

Prior to the unanimous vote to place the item back on the March agenda, each of the selectmen expressed positive views about the train service, with Mrs. Janet Lake commenting that she recalled Mr. Trombly at a town meeting some years ago recommending that the train be continued terming it as of inestimable value.

Indian Ridge - Gift From A Glacier

AVIS acquires woodlands, green areas, wetlands and riverbanks to preserve their trees, plants, wildlife and scenic beauty. Walking trails are maintained for public use, and all activities consistent with conservational objectives are encouraged.)

Indian Ridge Reservation is the oldest reservation in Andover, having been purchased by a group of conservationists in 1897. It is much more than a recreation area, and holds considerable meaning to geologists and amateur scientists because it is an esker (ridge). This reservation, an area of 23 acres, is located just one mile from town hall via Central Street. It has two accesses a short distance from Abbot (Horn) Bridge, one on Red Spring Road, the other on Reservation Road. There are signs at each entrance.

The ridge, located in a heavily wooded area, was thought at one time to have been made by Indians because of the many relics found there. Geologists found, though, that the ridge was formed by the ice sheet that covered the northern part of America during the Ice Age. Glacial streams made channels in the ice cracks, where gravel and glacial debris were carried along and gradually deposited. When the ice walls melted away from around them, long serpentine ridges of gravel remained. These are called eskers. The gravel stones are well rounded by water action.

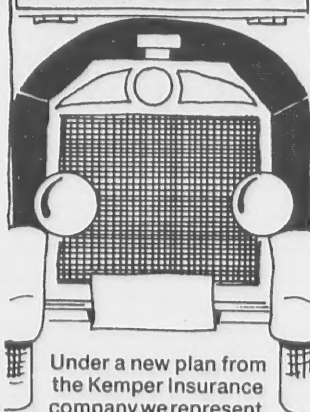

In the last century many townspeople strolled along the ridge since it was near the center of town, and offered good views of the countryside. Those in poor health were advised to "walk around Indian Ridge twice a day."

Interest to preserve the area was first shown in November, 1896 when a special town meeting of the townspeople was called. The town owned half the ridge but the portion now comprising the AVIS reservation was being offered for sale by the Hartwell Abbott heirs. Miss Alice Buck, one of the town's earliest fighters for conservation, along with three other women (women's lib was alive and well in Andover even then) were leaders in a year long struggle to preserve the ridge. The cause received national publicity, editorials appearing in the Boston and New York papers, and articles in Harper's Weekly, the Atlantic Monthly, and the Saturday Evening Post.

Valiant efforts to raise the sum followed, but could not be realized as the option deadline drew near. Good news came that the Abbott heirs had agreed to reduce the price by five hundred dollars, and with a final fund raising surge, the needed amount was collected and the deed passed on December 16, 1897. As Miss Buck said, the land was saved from "the steam saw and shovel." A plaque mounted on a large boulder stands on the highest point within the reservation to honor her. It was placed there shortly after her death in 1907. The Indian Ridge Association managed the land until 1915, when it merged with AVIS.

Starting from the Reservation Road entrance, the path follows below the ridge, then slowly climbs the esker, joining the main trail which extends the full length of the reservation, about half a mile in length. At one point, one can elect to take a low lying trail which follows the base of the ridge. In places the esker is over fifty feet above the surrounding land. Oak is the predominant tree here but others in less abundance are maple, pine, hemlock, ash and hickory.

Maple leaf viburnum is the most common shrub in the higher areas growing under the oaks, while in the low areas one of the dogwood shrubs takes over.

Witch Hazel is frequent and is still sporting its small spidery yellow blossoms and ripened seed pods from a year ago. Ferns cover much of the forest floor and patches of evergreen ground covers such as pipsissewa, wintergreen and partridgeberry are occasionally seen. It is interesting to notice here the plants which can thrive on a ridge with the poor rocky soil and dry conditions, and those which flourish in the richer, more moist soil below.

By referring to the AVIS trail map, one can continue beyond this reservation, circle back around Baker's Meadow making a large loop, a walk of about three miles.

This reservation could be enjoyed during the winter on cross country skis, snowshoes or in sturdy shoes as the trails are wide, smooth and gradually sloping. Views through the deciduous trees are best when the leaves have fallen.

Alan Thoday of Mayflower Drive is the warden in charge of this reservation and should be contacted when any group activities are planned.

For more information about the reservations and trails, AVIS maps of Andover are available at Memorial Hall Library, town hall and several local stores.

Electric Co. Gets Rate Increase

Massachusetts Electric Company has received an $11.4 million increase by the Massachusetts Department of Public Utilities (DPU). Of this total increase, $3.9 million is a general rate increase - designed to offset the impact of inflation; approximately $7.5 million is a temporary charge that is estimated to end after ten months and will not become part of the general rates.

It is anticipated that the average residential customer (usage of 400 kwh per month) will experience an increase of 59 cents per month for about ten months; then the increase drops to 23 cents per month. Customers will begin seeing the increase on their bills October 29, 1974.

Commenting on the DPU's order, William J. Cadigan, president of Massachusetts Electric, said, "This increase will allow the company to come closer to the rate of return allowed by the DPU and allow the company to collect previously unrecovered costs."

Massachusetts Electric Company is a wholly owned subsidiary of New England Electric System.

Preview

On Oct. 24 The Boston Repertory Theatre will begin previews of John Roc's powerful drama Fire! The Show will preview for one week and open on All Saints Eve, Oct. 31, a fitting evening for this bizarre tale of people caught in an unknown time and place and faced with the strongest conflict of their lives.

This unusual play springs from an equally unusual author. John Roc, a pseudonym for this thirty-nine year old American writer, began writing travel articles and books as a young man and eventually moved on to novels and plays. He completed thirteen plays, then destroyed ten of them without showing them to anyone. Two of his novels met this same fate, so Fire! is one of his few extant pieces.

Special Exhibit At Gallery

On Sunday, Oct. 27, the Andover Gallery of Fine Art, 91 North Main Street, opens a special exhibition of one-of-a-kind marble sculptures by Stephen Read. Area residents are invited to the reception for the artist from 5 to 8 p.m.

Read, a young native of New Hampshire, studied sculpture under Arthur Balderacci at the University of New Hampshire, and in Dublin, Ireland where he found great success. The "Irish Times" rhetorically described him as a spiritual descendent of Arp and Brancusi, two of the most talented sculptors of this century.

"Poetry in Stone" is the theme of sculptor Read's creations, which range from realistic representations to abstract interpretations.

The smooth, sensuous surfaces of his stone carvings - really forms of poetic expression - reflect the skill, sensitivity and subtle sophistication of this creative artist. Working only with hand tools on Vermont and Italian marble, steatite, and fossiliferous limestone, Read sensitively adheres to the inherent lines and beauty in the material with which he is working and effectively communicates his love for the stone.

His works have been exhibited at the Project Art Center and the Davis Gallery in Dublin and at the Wexford, Ireland art festival; the Lamont Gallery at Phillips Exeter Academy, Exeter, N.H., and the Point Gallery in Kittery, Maine, among many others.

A number of Read's sculptures are to be found in American and foreign private collections in Ireland, France and England.

The U.S. Labor Department sees a need for an average of more than 150,000 new building construction workers each year between 1972 and 1985.

The three candidates seeking the All-Andover representative seat in the state legislature were asked questions by the Andover League of Women Voters as part of the voters service program.

Their responses are printed here today in anticipation of the league's special candidates night program scheduled for Tuesday, Oct. 29, at 8:30 p.m. at the West Elementary School Auditorium.

Sue Tucker, president of the league will be moderator.

Candidates present will be Fifth Congressional District Candidates Congressman Paul W. Cronin and Democrat Paul Tsongas.

The Congressional candidates will be asked to comment on how they would interpret President Ford's economic policies and how they would apply them to the Fifth District.

Atty. Gerald Cohen, Roger W. Collins and Atty. John Cronin, candidates for the Andover representative seat, will be asked to comment on Ballot Question Four, namely, if it is passed, how they would propose using Mass. Highway fund money.

Candidates Respond To Questions

Atty. Gerald Cohen

Time will be allowed for audience questions and comments on answers from other candidates.

The local candidate response to the league questionnaire:

If new tax revenue is needed in 1975, what tax measures would you support?

Cohen

My first analysis of the property tax is that it is inequitable rated state wide without any uniformity, and a lack of standardized assessing procedures compounds the inequity. As for new sources of taxation I would favor:

a) Limited sales tax increase.
b) Motor fuel tax increase and change to a percentage on sales price rather than a flat rate per

Roger W. Collins

c) A graduation of the income tax on all income over $25,000. The economic picture in Massachusetts must improve so that the state is growing economically - all the percentages in the world won't solve our tax needs in a declining economy.

Collins

Having followed the State Budget process this past year in the months of May and June, I would have opposed its passage. Experts estimate that we have been saddled with an unbalanced budget of at least 150 million dollars. This is against State Statute. A bloated Capital Expenditure Budget was also passed with such low priority items as new higher education buildings, unjustified state funded swimming pools and skating rinks, and other items. This is wrong.

Atty. John Cronin

Before approving any new taxes I would vote to cut back on unnecessary new and old expenditures.

If new taxes still become a necessity I would vote the use of the Sales Tax as the most obvious source for further development.

Cronin

As a citizen and taxpayer, I certainly hope that no new tax revenue is needed in 1975. As I pointed out last August in the Lawrence Eagle Tribune, however, the First National Bank of Boston has found that Massachusetts was the only state in the nation to end fiscal 1974 with a deficit and that it is probably the only state in the nation that will have to impose new and higher taxes in fiscal 1975 to make ends meet. The estimated tax increase is $200 million - or more than $100. for every household in the state.

Unlike the Federal Government which can print money, the only way the state can cope with mounting overall costs is either higher taxes or a positive role in increasing its economic base. I favor the latter approach.

In the long run, if Massachusetts is to resolve its serious economic problems, it must face up to the dual needs of tighter spending controls, and solid economic growth in the state.

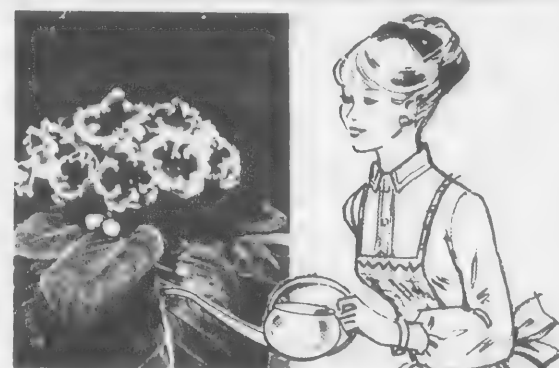

In the short run, however, if as the First National Bank predicts, $200 million of additional revenue will be needed during the next year, I believe that burden should be carried by business as well as individuals. I would support a limited increase of corporate taxes, along with increases in the sales tax and the various excise taxes on automobiles, boats, liquor, cigarettes, etc. Furthermore, while I see the need for these traditional legislative authorizations to meet the anticipated deficit, I also believe that Andover's State Representative must find imaginative yet practical ways to deal with this state's economic problems. A state run system of legalized off-track betting on horse races, for example, while novel, may be a very practical way to increase state revenues.

What measures would you support to improve the process by which judges are selected and disciplined?

Cohen

I support H2611 which establishes an independent commission to review and discipline judges. I would further amend this bill to include screening and selection powers in the Judiciary.

Collins

A. If elected I will co-file legislation creating an eleven member Judicial Qualifications Commission, to consist of: 4 judges appointed by the Supreme Judicial Court; 4 Massachusetts Bar Association members elected by the Association; 3 members of the Bar appointed by the Governor. This commission would promulgate criteria for determining qualifications of nominees, approve or disapprove qualifications of nominees submitted by the Governor.

B. I will support also Senate Bill No. 1728 which calls for the establishment of a Board of Judicial Inquiry. This would call for an independent commission headed by a full time Executive Director. The Board would review complaints made against Judges and make recommendations to the Supreme Judicial Court. It is not a Constitutional Amendment giving the Supreme Judicial Court the power to remove Judges. That power will still remain exclusively within the jurisdiction of the Legislature.

Cronin

A) I believe the present system of disciplining judges to be adequate. The power and jurisdiction of the Supreme Judicial Court to make inquiry and hold hearings into matters of judicial misconduct is based on the inherent common law and constitutional powers of the Court, and the general supervisory powers conferred on it by Chapter 211, Section 3 of the Massachusetts General Laws.

Effective September 1, 1974, the Supreme Court inserted a new Chapter Four in the "Rules of the Supreme Judicial Court (1967)." This established a Board of Bar Overseers with the power to maintain and impose discipline with respect to the conduct of all members of the bar, whether acting as lawyers engaged in private practice or as judicial officers. The Supreme Court, however, upon a finding of impropriety or the appearance of impropriety, still maintains the power to reprimand, suspend, censure or disbar any judge, and to enjoin him or her from sitting as judge within the Commonwealth.

B) The process by which judges are selected, however, could be improved, and I would support any of the following measures in that regard: 1) Abolition of the role of the Governor's Council in the judicial selection process. 2) A statutory change or Constitutional amendment that would require the Governor to submit the names of all potential judicial nominees to a special Screening Committee composed of lawyers appointed by the various Bar Associations throughout the state. That Committee would have the duty to examine the potential judge's professional background and standing within the community, and to issue its recommendation only that the person is "qualified," or "not qualified" for the judgeship. 3) A requirement that the Governor's final choice of an appointee be made only from the list of persons the Screening Committee had recommended as "qualified" for the position. 4) A requirement that the nomination be approved by the State Senate after a full public hearing, as in the Federal System.

Pageant Of Peace

It may be a bit early to be thinking of Christmas but already plans are under way for something new and creative as an alternative for the Christmas Nativity Scene in the annual Pageant of Peace.

Recently, the U.S. Court of Appeals ruled to drop the traditional Nativity scene from the Pageant of Peace, citing excessive government entanglement with religion.

As a creative alternative, Senator Mark O. Hatfield along with a group of national celebrities and a handful of concerned Christians, recently formed the Christian Service Corps Council and are sponsoring among other things the live re-enactment of the Nativity scene.

Last April the National Park Service issued a permit to the Council for use of the Washington Monument grounds to stage the full dress Christmas Nativity Pageant, complete with live animals and dignitaries to re-enact "as authentically as possible" the sequence of events of Christ's entry into history.

It is anticipated that as many as one million people will view the site in Washington and many more will see it on national television during the Christmas season.

The first year budget for the Pageant is $60,000 including camel rental, professionally produced soundtrack and lighting system, and the professional design and construction services.

Robert Meyers, president of the Christian Service Corps (the Peace Corps of the Church), says the Pageant is being funded by the tax deductible donations from the people of the United States. "We want to return to the people the opportunity to present the greatest story known of peace and good will to all people" explained Meyers. "For this to happen it will be necessary to have Christmas now from Christian Americans."

Those who wish to help in launching the people's first annual Christmas Nativity Pageant may write to: Christian Service Corps Council, 1800 K St. NW Suite 631, Washington, D.C. 20006.

The Council under Senator Hatfield's leadership, includes such notables as Mr. and Mrs. Pat Boone, Mamie Eisenhower, David and Julie Eisenhower, Sargent and Mrs. Shriver, Washington Mayor Walter Washington and Mrs. Washington, Senator and Mrs. Howard Baker, Washington Redskins Coach and Mrs. George Allen and others.

Audubon Society says. Beverage containers are the fastest growing component of solid waste, increasing by eight percent a year.

Knights Trying for First Cape Win

By Bill Lafond

The Chieftains of Masconomet come to North Andover on Saturday in what shapes up to be a battle, as the Knights will try to break the win column in the league. They presently have four straight league defeats.

At Alvah Hayes Field last Saturday the Knights ran into another tough club in Newburyport as they played a very tough defense, but the offense could not click and went down to defeat 12-0. For Newburyport it was their third win against one defeat in the league and 3-2 overall.

The Knights and Clippers battled to a scoreless first period the only threat coming when Newburyport wing back Mike Breshnahan broke on an end around sweep for 49 yards to the Knight 12 yard line where Willie Morgan made a touchdown saving tackle. The Knights tough defense held on four downs as the Clippers lost six and five yards on a penalty and fumble on the series.

The next time Newburyport had the ball they put together an 81 yard drive to score as Kevin Sullivan hit Mike Breshnahan for a 14 yard scoring strike. Sullivan's point after conversion hit the cross bar and was no good. On that scoring drive Breshnahan had jaunts of 23 and 12 yards while Wayne Kubik had another 23 yarder. Also, the Clippers had four first downs.

With a little over four minutes to go in the half Kevin Barlow intercepted Wayne Alexander's pass and returned it to Newburyport's 43. On the first play from scrimmage Sullivan hit Gary Martin with a perfect 19 yard strike to the Knight 34. Three plays later Sullivan hit Barlow for 11 yards and a first down at the Knight 19. On just two more plays Sullivan again hit a slant pass to Paul Caron for a first and goal at the 5. On the next play Paul Caron went off tackle for the score, but the conversion attempt failed and it was 12-0 at the half.

The Knights had their only real threat going in the third quarter as on a drive started at their own

7 yard line Greg Edwards went off tackle for runs of 5 and 6 yards to the 33 yard line for the initial first down for the home team. Two plays later Wayne Alexander ran a keeper around end for the first down at the 45. Alexander then hit Mike Heafey for a 15 yard strike and another first down at the Newburyport 41 yard line. Edwards, on a swing up the middle, went for 14 yards to the 27 yard line. On two plays later Heafey had pass interference called at the 16 yard line for a first down, but poor execution on offense.

Coach Rorke explained, "Newburyport has an explosive offense but were held by a great defensive effort to 12 points, but our offense was just inconsistent, not cashing in on the big play." The Knight Coach would like to credit Tom Donovan, Fran Murphy, Mike Chory, and Scott Kelly on defense as they played a fine game.

The Chieftains Will Be Next: Masconomet has a 1-3 record - they defeated Triton 22-12, but have gone down to defeat at the hands of Newburyport 28-0, Lynnfield 27-3 and Pentucket 29-7.

"They work on the ground as a team with some fine players in Rick Bedrosian and Andy Minich. We are very confident, but will have to stop their running and our offense will have to open up," Coach Rorke said.

The team is in great physical shape entering the contest and looking for that first win in five starts in the league after an opening 14-8 victory over non-league Methuen. Freshman Dan Brucato will see more action on defense and possible action at tail back. Bill McMahon will see more action on defense.

Knight Frosh Come Back 28-20:

At Newburyport last Friday, the Knight Frosh ran in to a tough test as they had to make a second half comeback to retain their undefeated (5-0) record. The red and black underclassmen trailed 14-6 at intermission as they came out first with a score when Kevin Callagy hit Jim Addonigio with a 7 yard scoring strike but the rush failed for the two-point extras.

Newburyport then came back with a 53 yard scoring march as they worked down to the one before crossing over for the score. The quarterback went off-tackle for the extra points and it was 8-6. In the second quarter the Clipper Frosh started at their own 45 as the tailback went around end from the 8 yard line and it was 14-6 as the conversion failed.

Tom Erle opened the second half with an 85 yard kickoff return for the score while Bob Bernardin caught Callagy's pass for the two points and it was tied 14-14. E.J. Roberts set up the next score with an interception at the 18 yard line. Five plays later Callagy went on a keeper for the four yard touchdown and as the rush failed on the conversion it was 20-14. The next time the Frosh had the pigskin they had a long 96 yards to go but completed it on six first downs as Steve McManus rushed for a 3 yard score. Callagy hit Bernardin for the two points and it was 28-14 midway through the final quarter. Newburyport added one more score and the final read 28-20 as the Knights stayed undefeated. Bill San Soucie and Jim Gosselin were the big guns defensively while Tom Erle and Kevin Callagy starred offensively. The Knight Frosh travel to Boxford on Friday to play masconomet Regional in a 3:15 kickoff.

Knight J. Varsity Up-ended: The underclassmen Knights met a strong foe in Newburyport, and when it was over they weren't only scored upon but shut out 14-0. Newburyport broke the Knight bubble when they went on a strong 77 yard march to score. Sophomore back Greg Twombly went off-tackle for 2 yards and the score. The Knight Juniors just couldn't get a consistent offense going. In the second quarter Newburyport fumbled at their 24 yard line where Dave Stone recovered. Two first downs got the Knights to the three yard line but lost their bid on the series of downs. Newburyport added their last score when the Knight punt was blocked at the 22 yard line. On four plays Twombly went off-tackle and it was 14-0. The J.V's will travel to Boxford on Monday morning for a 10 a.m. meeting with Masconomet. Their record is now 4-1.

State Championships of the Ford Punt, Pass and Kick Competition.

The site was Boston College's chilly Alumni Stadium, where the winners earned the right to battle for New England honors at halftime of the Nov. 3 NFL game between the Patriots and Buffalo Bills.

Nine-year-old Dick Kelley, for the second straight year a State finalist (the age groups are 8-13), took third place behind Sharon's Kevin Fontes whose three efforts totalled 190 feet.

Ted Kelley came the closest of the three to winning, as he was leading in the 10-year-old competition entering the kickoff event.

Ted was booming his kickoffs 80-85 feet in practices, but when it was all over Kelley was edged out by Casey Smith of Deerfield and Paul Leavitt of Burlington, Vt.

Smith beat Kelley by 5 1/2-feet and Leavitt was runner-up by 18 inches.

Dave Nardone's 12-year-old division was captured by Jeff Dolan of Worcester.

Noble Thoughts

Parents were disappointed at the final score but not the play of the Brooks School team last Saturday afternoon as the North Andover private school dropped a 24-14 Parents Day game to Noble and Greenough. Mike Doyle and Steve Bartlett contributed heavily to the great effort by Brooks in containing the visitors, while being able to put 14 points on the board themselves.

Bullard Paces Crimson

Andover's Lyman Bullard scored the only goal of the game for the Harvard soccer team as the Crimson upset fourteenth ranked Cornell in an Ivy League match Oct. 19.

Bullard, a sophomore striker, tallied at 33:45 of the first half when he broke across the goal mouth from the right wing and took a perfect pass from halfback Mark Zimmering. Bullard cleanly beat Cornell goalkeeper Jon Ross, an All-Ivy honorable mention last year, from a tough angle.

Harvard's defense was the key to the game, however. While the Crimson took only nine shots, Ross was forced to make the save eight times. In comparison, the Big Red fired 18 shots but Harvard goalkeeper Ben Bryan recorded only eight saves as the Harvard fullbacks repeatedly blunted the Red Attack.

The win, coupled with a 1-1 tie with eleventh-ranked Connecticut on Oct. 16, re-establishes Harvard as a major power in New England soccer and a strong contender for NCAA post-season competition. Harvard is now 3-1-1 for the season and 2-0 in the Ivy League.

Bullard is a history major at Harvard. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Lyman G. Bullard of 107 Highland Road, Andover.

Duncan Black seemed to have his own personal cheering squad awaiting him at the goal line last Saturday afternoon as the Golden Warriors crushed Methuen 67-6 at Lovely field. Black scored twice, each time with the band members at the goal post cheering on his performance.

Andover's unbeaten Golden Warriors, sporting the longest win streak of area schoolboy teams was prepping this week for Lawrence High after a 67-6 rout of traditional rival Methuen High last Saturday.

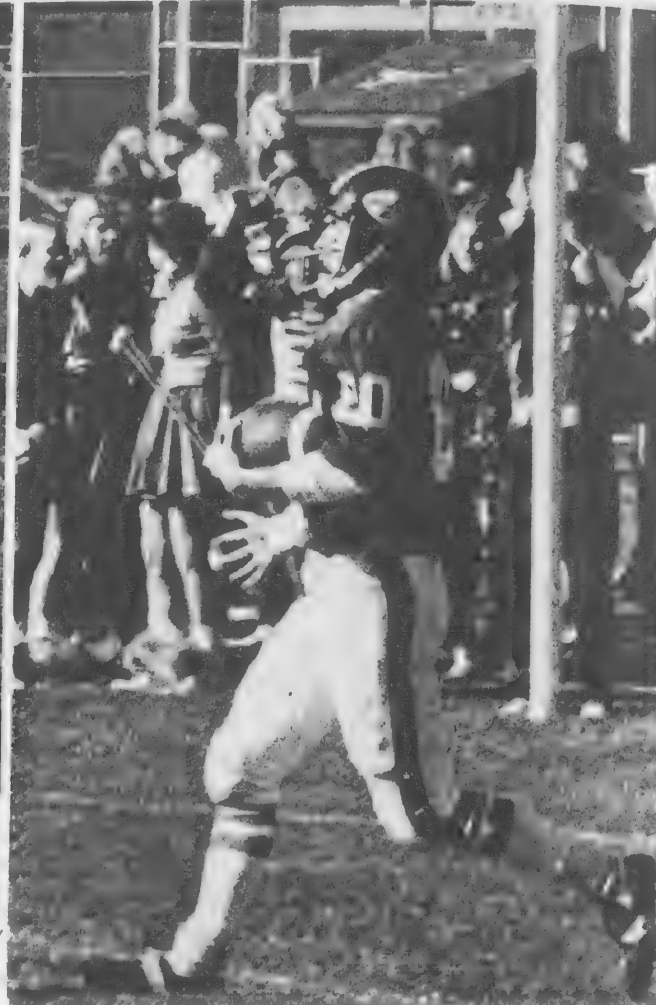

While Methuen Coach Bob Rosemarino commented about the Andover actions, Warrior Head Coach Dick Collins offered that he felt terrible about the final score, but there was little he could do.

Collins played all reserves from late in the second period on.

The Warrior coach did apologize for his youngsters throwing a pass late in the fourth period and also for calling a time out toward the end of the game.

He said the action was taken by the youthful players on the field against his orders.

As for the score, Collins said he did feel badly about the final outcome, but added, he couldn't tell the kids not to try. For many of the Warrior reserves it was their first taste of varsity game experience.

And, while Rosemarino had some comments about the Andover action, Andover fans were more than slightly miffed at the overall Methuen attitude.

Once when an Andover player, T.J. Stamas was injured on the field, the fans and team applauded as the game youngster was treated on the field. At game's end, Rosemarino ordered his team from the field and accompanied them to the bus without the customary handshake.

As for the game itself, Methuen scored early, after Mark Buben recovered an Andover fumble on the 18 yard line. Five plays later Glen Gallant scored to give Methuen a temporary 6-0 lead.

Late in the first period a Bill Alexander punt rolled dead on the six-inch line and on the first play from scrimmage, Warrior John Drivas recovered a fumble on the one.

Quarterback Jeff Winters carried it in on the first play and Peter Reilly kicked the conversion to give Andover a 7-6 lead.

When Methuen's Ruffen, attempting to punt, got a bad snap from center, the second touchdown was set up. Ruffen was downed on the nine yard line and Winters breezed in shortly after for a 13-6 lead.

Methuen's Sean Sullivan fumbled the kickoff and it was recovered by John MacDonald at the 43. The Andover score on this one was registered on a Winters to Steve Fabiani pass.

Following a Methuen punt and a penalty against the visitors, setting Andover in business again at the 32, the Warriors engineered another drive, capped by Craig Eosefow going over to make the score 27-6.

On the ensuing kickoff, Pete Reilly shanked it and it appeared to be an on-side kick pounced on by Glenn Verrette at the Methuen 48. On the first play Winters let fly with a scoring aerial to Bill Alexander.

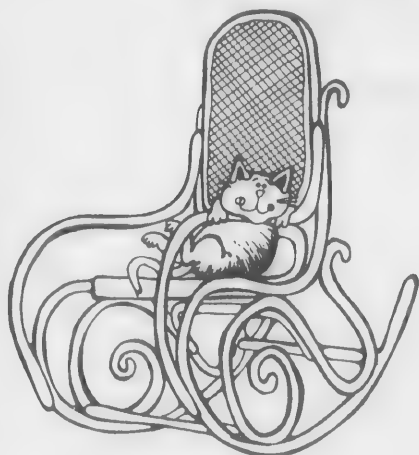

Following the kickoff, Brian Flannery recovered a Methuen fumble on the 22 and reserve quarterback followed this up with a scoring strike to Duncan Black.

Mark Farnham took the second half kickoff 72 yards for a touchdown to make the score 45-6.

Methuen's most effective scoring drive in the second half was interrupted by a Duncan Black interception at the goal line.

Adding fourth period touchdowns for the Warriors, were John Fabiani, Dave Mirisola and Bob Hoelzel.

Vikings Create League Turmoil

By Rick Harrison

The Indian Ridge Vikings threw the Andover Junior Football League championship up for grabs once again, stunning the previously undefeated Ballardvale Browns 6-0 last weekend before a chilled crowd at the East Junior High gridiron.

In other games, the Shawsheen Patriots regained a share of first place by trimming the Bancroft Dolphins, 14-6, and the Central Colts shaded the West Andover Giants 13-12 on Dave Milne's extra point rush.

Now, with one game remaining for each team in the regular season, four of the clubs still have a shot at the 1974 title.

The Browns and Pats are 3-1 for six points each, while the Vikings and Colts stand 1-1-2 for four points apiece.

This Sunday its the Dolphins against the Vikings at 12 noon, the Browns against the Giants at 1:15 p.m., and the Patriots against the Colts at 2:30 o'clock.

Should a tie for first result after Sunday's games, there would probably be playoff game(s) on Nov. 3.

Vikings 6, Browns 0

A blocked punt deep in Browns' territory midway through the fourth quarter was the turning point.

The punt actually bounced off a Browns' blockers' back, and was recovered at the Ballardvale 10 yard line by the Vikes' Bob Dufault.

Doherty's attempted conversion pass failed, but as it turned out that didn't matter.

The Browns still had nine plays in which to pull out a victory, and signal-caller Marty Solomon completed a key fourth down pass to move the ball to the Vikings' 20 yard line.

However, two penalties and an interception of Jim Higgins' option pass killed the final thrust. Doherty ran out the last three plays to insure the Vikings' upset.

The solid winners' defense was sparked by linebacker Ira Gould and fast-charging end George O'Brien.

Doug Kirkland also had a big part in the shutout, making a key fourth down tackle to halt a Browns' drive at the Indian Ridge four yard line in the opening half.

Offensively the Vikings were powered by the running of Mike DeSalvo and Steve Doherty, as well as B-team QB Ted Kelley.

The Browns' attack featured several excellent running bursts by 11-year-old Mike Sherman.

Quarterback Solomon also threw a number of fine passes that were on target, but dropped.

Anchoring the Ballardvale defense, which surrendered its first touchdown of the season, were tackle Jim DePiano, linebacker Jim HJiggins and middle guard Dave Grant.

Pats 14, Dolphins 6

Much like their New England and Miami namesakes, the Patriots and Dolphins of Andover hooked up in a tough duel.

The resurgent Dolphins grabbed a 6-0 first quarter edge, as John Merola sped 50 yards to paydirt on a reverse.

The attempted Pat pass from Bob Meier to Ted MacDonald went astray, however.

The Shawsheen crew inched into the lead for good late in the opening half, as Paul Sirois scooted two yards on a dive play and Mel Berger rushed the conversion for a 7-6 lead.

The Pats' B-team helped set up the insurance score, as A-team running back Bill Dufresne scampered 25 yards on an end sweep midway through the fourth stanza.

Mel Berger again rushed the Dolphins received some rugged defensive work from omnipresent linebacker Dave Cullinan and 11-year-old John Sideri. The offensive leaders included Ken Hyslip and John Merola.

The co-leading Patriots were bulwarked defensively by middle guard Jim Lacourse and linebacker Don Bliss.

Pats' quarterbacks Tom Walsh and Glenn McIntyre both ran the bootleg plays very well, while B-team back Rick Dalton also starred.

Colts 13, Giants 12

The Colts took a 13-6 halftime lead and then hung on for the victory.

Hard-charging halfback and Co-Capt. Dave Milne put the Central club on top 6-0 early in the game, churning 25 yards off tackle for his second seasonal TD.

The conversion aerial from Co-Capt. Andy Billings to Jerry Doyle fell incomplete.

The Giants struck right back moments later on a 15-yard jaunt by Jeff Nicastro, but the Colts' stacked up Jeff's Pat rush to keep it 6-6.

Late in the half Kevin Joiner escaped on a 25-yard TD run for the Central squad, and Dave Milne bulled over for what proved to be the decisive extra point.

The Giants stormed back again in the third quarter on a 50-yard reverse by Jeff Sarkisian, but the center snap was fumbled on the try for the tying conversion.

Neither club was able to dent the scoreboard in the fourth quarter, making the finale 13-12.

Defensive leaders for the Colts were middle guard Jason Powell and big end Mike Uska. Offensive threats included A-backs Dave Sawyer and Dave Milne, as well as B-back Gary Milne.

The West Andover defense was spearheaded by Glen Johnson and Dave Fogarty, both linebackers, while offensively the work of Nicastro and Steve Luby excelled.

Correction

Credit where credit is due! Giants' back Rich Spinala has scored one touchdown which was incorrectly given to Jeff Sarkisian. Rich thus has six points and Jeff 12.

Scoring

Speaking of scoring, Marty Solomon still heads the list with 24 points. Bill Dufresne has 15, Dave Milne 13, Sarkisian 12 and Tom Walsh 12 points.

Steve Doherty has tossed two TD passes and Solomon one.

Banquet

The AJFL awards banquet will be held on Tuesday night, November 12, beginning at 6:30 p.m. at the Greater-Lawrence Vocational School.

Key trophies to be presented will be the Gus Connolly Award and the Walter 'Stretch' Pearson Award, which annually go to the outstanding back and outstanding lineman in the league.

Andover High football Coach Dick Collins will be at the head table with tree of his players who are AJFL graduates. Junior High coaches Pete Anderson, Jim Hurley and Karl Lippmann are also expected, and an NFL film is scheduled.

BWL Ski League Notes

By Carrie Smotrich

The 1974-1975 Buddy Werner League season was initiated this past Sunday with a dry land practice held at the West Junior High athletic field.

An enthusiastic group of 20 racers can't wait to sharpen their course reading abilities. Following practice on the race course, team members took part in an inter-mural soccer game. The racers were guided by coaches Jim Batchelder, Tom Heislein, Ed Hostetter and Mike Coach Smotrich indicated that dry land practice will be held bi-weekly during the Fall season; the next practice being scheduled for Nov. 3.

As you know, BWL is a ski race where an opportunity to participate in team ski racing. In this program all children are allowed to race in their particular age categories with no team cuts. In this way BWL tries to provide all children an opportunity to compete in the sport of ski racing. To keep this type of program vital, it is necessary that we get new racers every year with special emphasis being placed on the young child who will race in the 8 and under category. Since we are dealing with the younger children, it is also necessary that we obtain adult support in assisting us in training sessions as well as in the running of races.

Applications for the BWL Program are available at Dana's Sport Shop in Andover, from Tom Heislein, treasurer and Pokey Gardner, registrar.

Adults who are interested in taking part in the BWL Program should contact Mike Smotrich, president or Peter Price, vice president of the Andover Ski Club, sponsors of BWL.

Why You And I Need ROGER W. COLLINS IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

House Minority Leader, Francis W. Hatch, Jr., of Beverly, met recently with Candidate Collins in Andover to discuss his coming election.

REPRESENTATIVE HATCH REPORTS:

"For the last two years I have suffered bitter defeat at the hands of Democrats in my attempt to make it harder for lawmakers to vote projects and programs that increase local taxes. Massachusetts has a veto proof Legislature and this is very dangerous.

"Regardless of who is elected Governor in November there is a need for a powerful minority group of lawmakers to give the system checks and balances.

"This is why we need Collins in the Legislature and he just happens to be the most qualified."

What Our Readers Say-

Appreciative

To the Editor of the TOWNSMAN:

Since the suspicious fire that partially destroyed our home over a week ago, we have been made acutely aware of the atmosphere of fear pervading the town. Although we have suffered greatly, from the loss of our belongings and from the terrible strain occasioned by the entire incident, we take some consolation, and our fellow townspeople should take some comfort, in the thought that here in Andover we have an exceptionally well trained and dedicated force of firefighters. Only the speed and efficiency of the men who responded to the alarm at our house prevented its total destruction and their consideration for our possessions kept the loss to a necessary minimum.

We wish to publicly praise the men of the Andover fire department and Chief Hilton and Deputy Chief Cole for a difficult job well done.

Atty. and Mrs. Richard Savrann
11 Sheridan Road
Andover

Resentful

To the Editor of the TOWNSMAN:

In your issue of October 17 in the column "What Our Readers Say" was a letter from a gentlemen from South Main Street commenting about his suspicions of the motives of the Moderator, the Selectmen, the Finance Committee, and the Town Manager on various issues coming before the recent town meeting. Most of the town jobs enumerated are done by the town officials because they are generally interested in the town - their financial recompense is little or nothing. Whatever it is, it could not repay these people for the contribution they give of themselves and of their own time in order to make Andover a better place to live.

I resent people attacking motives of elected officials everytime they disagree with the conclusions that the elected officials arrive at. Disagreement is healthy, and scrapping for one's point of view is the only way to go.

From differences of opinions should come the best decisions for the town to make no matter what the issue.

Perhaps, if the gentlemen is so upset with the elected officials and generally feels that they are devious in their motives, he would like to run for one of these offices himself in the March election in order to straighten this all out.

Eugene A. Bernardin, Jr.
26 Chestnut St.
Andover

Opposed

To the Editor of the TOWNSMAN:

The press has reported on the possibility of changing Andover's open town meeting to a representative town meeting. We strongly oppose such change.

Consider what we must do now to make our opinion known on matters of public concern. On the national scene, we must communicate with the president, or our legislators, or congressional committees, or the many bureaus. In the state, we must contact the state officials; and in the town, the Board of Selectmen.

One factor is common to all these contacts, i.e. we can only appeal to any official or group, and he or they make the decision. But in the open town meeting, we have the last remaining vestige of direct self government, where we can express ourselves, and then make the decision by our vote, and not through an intermediary.

In a representative town meeting we may speak, but the representatives do the deciding. Are we to give up our last chance for direct action for some alleged increase in efficiency in town government which may or may not come about?

To make our opinion known nationally or in the state, we can spend all our time in the maze outlined above. Should we, on the town level, now add another layer to the layers already existing between ourselves and self government? Must we additionally spend time trying to influence our town representatives, instead of being able to decide for ourselves?

We believe the answer is definitely "No"! We urge our fellow citizens to rise up and save our last outpost of free expression and voting, our present Andover open town meeting.

Letter To Chairman Griggs

Dear Dr. Griggs,

This letter has been written by a satisfied and appreciative parent with children in the Andover School System for 12 years. I am writing to you without malice and without emotionalism... I feel that we must somehow establish - throughout the entire community - a workable atmosphere within which we can all better do our respective jobs.

By we, I mean students, parents, teachers, administrators, police officers, custodians, nurses etc. plus you four gentlemen, who, in your individual ways, care about the 6000 plus students about whom we all are so deeply concerned.

The majority of hard-working and responsible students deserve some helpful cooperation and basic good manners from all the adults with whom they interact. Many of your past efforts, Dr. Griggs, have been both positive and successful. Some of us still have faith, that in your leadership position as chairman of this committee, you have the ability to restore such an atmosphere to the town of Andover.

The insensitivity reflected by some of your committee member's lack of understanding about what some of the High School kids were saying last Tuesday night, left many of us both fearful and frustrated about the months and years ahead. By many of us, I mean those people who live or work or attend school in what used to be, a fine, forward - thinking New England community where we used to work together tackling common problems and attaining common goals...

The time has come, Dr. Griggs, when we all must admit to whatever mistakes we have made, and take steps to modify certain actions recently taken within a divisive and antagonistic atmosphere. I mean not just the School Committee itself, but the community - at - large, both on the stage and around town generally.

By mistakes, I refer to the Homework Policy as it is now being implemented. Are you aware that there are some students who have had to give up part-time jobs because their homework load was not compatible with their need and desire to earn pocket-money? (In some cases to ease the financial crunch at home.)

One closing thought; some of the dictatorial policies being issued via your committee are disregarding the fact that most students, most teachers, and most administrators are quite capable of doing their jobs without your "over-involvement" in areas of their expertise. Whether or not a teacher has children in our system has no bearing on his/her ability to relate to young people (as I know you know), nor any bearing on his/her ability to do his job to the best of his/her ability. I would like to meet with you at your convenience to talk specifically about some other things.

A Change

To the Editor of the TOWNSMAN:

October town meeting stalled on a point of arithmetic. From the floor an amendment for the school committee size article could not be immediately put into words to accomplish the desired numerical result.

At this time the moderator directed attention to his arbitrary rule that "all amendments must be presented in writing." He said that this instance proved the wisdom of his rule.

In general however, exceptional situations usually reveal the impropriety present rather than supporting an arbitrary position. If the moderator's rule were tenable, the effect would be to make legal that town meeting must fit the "Procrustean Bed" of the dimensions convenient for the moderator rather than improve town meeting as a place for discussion, give and take, to the end that business before it may be honed best to express the collective opinion present.

the limited powers of a moderator and those vast powers of the speaker for a majority party present and voting. Such a speaker has the votes to validate his actions however arbitrary. A moderator has nothing of the sort.

Moreover, if this ruling were reliable then its corollary would be that discussion and information provided from the floor is useless. Those who attend town meeting come all knowing. Their minds are immovable. Amendments have already been formulated from a stance of fulsome knowledge by all interested.

But the fact is; who can tell ahead of time what amendments may present themselves as discussion proceeds?

Shortly put, the ruling is of the nature of the enigma implied in this statement: "Take your medicine 3 days before you feel the pain start." It is hoped that recognition of the inappropriateness of the rule will soon prevail even tho all wish that it were practical.

However, if the matter is allowed to stand then town meeting ought to consider the benefits to be gained by hiring a high speed writer and composer to be on hand as well as a counsel for guidance.

Incidentally, it was disconcerting to see that no member of the board of selectmen offered the services of their counsel.

Anyhow, the moderator might get the message if there is placed in the warrant for the next town meeting a by-law which states that discussion shall not be limited on any article or line item until after one hour of discussion.

An Appeal For Ample Fish Limit

By Polly Bradley

When I finally got my youngest child safely settled in nursery school, the first thing I did was to head for a quiet boulder on a beautiful stretch of rocky New England coastline and just sit. Sit in peace. No pitter patter of little feet. No cheery young voices yelling "Mommy, Mommy" every half minute. Peace.

But it didn't last long. Before five minutes had passed, I heard a flappity flap, and down flew my old friend Jenny Lewis Seagull coming to perch upon my outstretched toe.

"I'm sorry to shatter your silence," said Jenny. "I've been waiting and wondering when you would wander here."

"Jenny, how good to see you! It's been a long time!" I exclaimed.

"All sizzling summer. I saw you as I soared, but couldn't drop down. Too many kicking kids and bawling babies on the beach."

"Yes, it was a crowded summer on the beach. Did you have a good summer, Jenny?"

"No!" Jenny squawked angrily. "Rumors are rampant in the bird world about ocean oil, fewer fish, overfishing and overpolluting."

"I'm afraid it hasn't been a very good summer for fisheries conservation," I admitted. "They are talking of drilling for oil in Georges Bank and building supertanker ports and refineries in New England."

"And people have pooh-poohed the problems of fish and food."

"But the worst is the failure of the Law of the Sea conference in Caracas to reach any agreement on protection of the continental shelf. Negotiations bogged down completely."

"Floundered like a fish," said Jenny sadly.

"Now there's a hot argument between those who would like to see us quickly declare a 200 mile limit on our own so we can save our fishing industry before the fish are gone, and those who say some progress was made in Caracas and we should wait patiently until next year when another session of the Law of the Sea conference will be held."

"Polly, please will you deliver some data from the feather flock to the people population?"

"You mean you want me to give a message from the seagulls to the human world?"

"Save the seas! Don't dawdle! One way or another, hurry, hurry! Seabirds will starve if we can't find fish! Humans will be hungry, too!"

"Do you have a particular preference for a treaty or for a unilateral 200 mile limit? Or for a declaration of a 200 mile limit which could be temporary until a final treaty is drawn up and signed?"

Jenny scratched her neck with one thin foot. She seemed puzzled. "Which way? Any way, but put your priorities fish first! My message is simple and straightforward: hurry, hurry!"

"O. K., Jenny," I said. "I'll deliver your message. You want something done before the fish are all gone and it's too late."

Jenny flapped her wings thankfully. "I'll go tell the gulls."

I watched as she soared high in the sky, then glided down to a distant beach where a large group of gulls seemed to be waiting for her.

Good-bye, Jenny, I thought. I only hope people will listen . . . soon enough.

Are We Wasting Our Most Valuable Resource ?

Paul Cronin believes food is to America what oil is to the Arabs.

Yet the American taxpayer paid almost $4 billion last year for farmers NOT to grow crops — — and our food prices increased by 15%.

Queen Elizabeth of England received $68,000 from the American taxpayers NOT to grow wheat in Mississippi; yet the typical housewife in the Fifth District paid 8.3 cents more for every loaf of bread (up 39%).

That's why Congressman Cronin introduced one of the first bills in the 93rd Congress to end all farm subsidies.

He believes the federal government should be providing an incentive to produce MORE food to lower food prices for all of us.

Paul Cronin thinks Congress should work for the people.

Questions

It would appear that the train service to the area, Andover included, will continue, based on actions during the weeks that have followed the Andover town meeting vote not to pay the MBTA bill.

We mentioned in this space a few weeks ago, it would be interesting to see if the service is actually terminated. It appears that the once-a-day train will still be stopping in the area.

The question remains -- will it stop in Andover, based on the Monday night action of the selectmen who agreed to place the decision of continuing the train before the voters at the annual town meeting in March?

Lawrence Mayor John J. Buckley reported a week ago that the decision to pick up the tab for the train between his city and Haverhill, was based on the train going through Andover closed door. Why, the mayor rightfully asks, should the cities be paying for the service, and the neighboring communities be allowed free use?

Our contention is that the MBTA train will continue to operate in the area. It makes sense for the MBTA to get some people into their metropolitan transit service area.

There are some other questions.

Petitions bearing the names of over 600 persons from the area were presented to the selectmen Monday night. If 600 people were aboard the train daily, we doubt there would be any question of the train continuing to operate.

There were comments to the effect that we subsidize the Trombly Bus service through highway construction and maintenance from tax money. But, we feel Mr. Trombly pays a substantial excise tax bill and other taxes which assist the community and the state.

With assurance that the train will remain on the tracks through next spring, anyway, we would hope that those interested in the service, as well as those providing it, namely the MBTA, can provide Andover and other communities with pertinent facts upon which a decision can be made.

There is evidence of MBTA interest. For the first time in all the years the town has been paying the bill, a representative of the MBTA appeared before the Andover selectmen with solid facts and information.

Further meetings of this type prior to next March will contribute heavily toward making an ultimate decision on the train.

67-6

Suffice it to say there has been considerable comment concerning the Saturday afternoon game in which Andover defeated Methuen 67-6, a rather lopsided margin for a high school football team.

We have but a few comments to make concerning the final outcome of this match which has been a traditional rivalry between the two schools for many years.

First, let us state that we are quite proud of the Golden Warriors as a team and for their accomplishments to date.

The team members have been looked upon as both gentlemen and sportsmen, a rare combination in this day and age.

That the team can qualify for such attribute is due directly to the leadership they receive from their head coach, Dick Collins and his assistants.

Mr. Collins following the game apologized for the exuberance displayed by the second and third team members who had a rare opportunity to enjoy varsity competition. The Golden Warrior underlings played a little more than half of the game, the first stringers being rested after they had amassed a commanding lead.

We subscribe fully to his comments that he is not about to tell any of his players not to put forth their best in competitive situations.

He can hardly be faulted for the efforts of the youngsters, who seizing the rare opportunity, did their best and played their utmost.

Collins as coach at Andover High for many years, has had lean years and good seasons. His clubs in recent years have struggled to get to the top and, as anyone knows, once there, it is even more difficult to remain the best. It takes extra effort.

Through all those years, Collins has instilled in all his teams a quality of good sportsmanship. He has been an exemplary leader of young men and a moulder of future leaders.

We believe he did as much as he could to prevent the final score last Saturday.

We further feel that the action of the coaching staff and the players, in view of the response from the Methuen side of the field, brought nothing but credit to themselves and supports our contention that the team is composed of gentlemanly sportsmen.

For Shame, Rocky

So. Gov. Rockefeller gave only $10 to Phillips Andover, while doling out close to $94,000 to Phillips Exeter?

We surmise that explains why the local academic community seemed more intent on having George Bush as a vice presidential designate.

Now, we wonder if possibly the Congressional Committee reviewing the Rockefeller choice as vice president, would be interested in the films of the Andover - Exeter game this year for consideration?

Off The Top Of The Desk

Since the state house seems to be an easy target for verbal attacks, particularly during this, an election year, we would like to take a moment to lend a congratulatory note.

The chambers there are currently undergoing some redecorating in anticipation of the bicentennial. A recent visit to the Senate chamber and adjoining lobby area found that it had been done over in what best can be described as similar to the colors in blue Wedgewood work.

It is an excellent job and quite appealing in appearance.

We are happy to report that a recent inspection of the Andover community found our Maple Avenue philosopher busy with the annual chore of ridding the yard of its abundance of fallen leaves.

Unlike her more youthful counterparts on the street, she seems to get the job done just as fast and efficiently by maintaining a rather steady pace. The pace consists basically of a little raking mixed with a bit of a chat with neighbors or people going by although there are times when the chatting sometimes outdoes the raking.

One of the pleasantest sounds around these days is the rhythm poured forth by the North Andover High school band.

We happened to catch the band in its most recent performance at last Saturday's football game.

The band members spend considerable time in rehearsal during the week and on Saturday morning preparing for their afternoon appearance. In addition to the senior musical unit, there is another musical unit in the town, the Middle School band composed of 110 youngsters, thus insuring a continuance of the pleasant sounds for some time to come.

The Andover Hockey Association, Inc., recently conducted a benefit drawing, with the following selected as prize winners, each to receive a pair of tickets to a future Boston Bruins home game at Boston Garden: A.N. Pirri, 3 Appollo Circle; D.D. Sagaser, 56 Chestnut St.; Chris Cullinan, 20 Marie Drive;

James Bateson, Jr., 111 Argilla Road and John Eaton, 233 Andover St. Richard E. Neal, association treasurer has expressed appreciation to all who supported the program.

An award check was recently presented to Scott Longmuir, manager of McDonald's of Andover, in recognition of the store's outstanding performance in the first round of an area-wide inter-store contest.

The contest -- an employee incentive backup to the chain's current quality, service and cleanliness guarantee program -- will run for a number of weeks, with each store in the area judged regularly on a standard list of criteria.

Award checks are divided among the store personnel and the management team, according to Thomas Curtin, owner/operator of the franchise.

A 5-week survey course on aquatic animal behavior will be offered at the New England Aquarium Tuesdays beginning Oct. 29 from 6-7:30 p.m.

The aquatic behavior course will be presented by the Aquarium's assistant director of education, Marcella Cohen. Topics included are predation, migration and territoriality of aquatic animals, and man's impact on other species of animals. Films will augment the lectures.

Things are getting pretty serious when we are told in a recent report that the materials used in making gum drops gummy is getting in short supply.

Woodlot owners and people cutting firewood for the winter will be interested in a woodlot workshop to be held at Bradley Palmer State Park, Topsfield, from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m., Oct. 26.

The program will include such topics as management for woodlot owners, chain saw maintenance and safety, ax and pulp saw operation, felling, bucking and limbing, fireplace cutting and other general aspects of

Down the Years with The Townsman

75 Years Ago - October, 1899

Congressman John Fitzgerald of Boston opened the St. Augustine's fair in town hall Monday. The hall was taxed to accommodate all who were present.

The selectmen appointed G.A. Higgin warden of precinct one and Howell F. Wilson, warden of precinct two for the Nov. 7 election. Both precincts will be open for the state election, it was announced.

A new street will be built by Supt. Lovejoy on the Abbot property between Summer and Chestnut streets. Plans are ready and the grades have been set. The road will probably be named Avon street.

The public schools will be closed today to allow the teachers to attend the conventions being held in Haverhill and Boston. The schools will also close on Monday to allow for visiting day.

A side door has been cut through the east wall of the Musgrove block which permits access from the alley to the American Express office.

50 Years Ago - October, 1924

The vacant lot at the corner of Main and Chestnut streets, formerly a part of the Swift Estate has been sold by William M. Wood to William J. Burns. The lot contains 8,000 square feet and selling price was $20,000.

The busiest session of the board of registrars in recent memory was held Monday when 362 new voters were enrolled on the final day to be eligible for the Presidential election in November.

Nine fires over the past weekend has resulted in the halting of all burning permits issued by the fire department. Local hunters have also been warned about the dry conditions of the woodlands.

Weakened by the absence of a star back, who was suspended for breaking training rules by Coach Lovely, the Pynchard High footballers were held to a scoreless tie by Essex Aggies last Saturday.

Supt. of Schools H.C. Sanborn addressed the meeting of the Shawsheen PTA at its meeting held in the new school building this week. He announced that a piano would be provided the school soon.

25 Years Ago - October, 1949

A lively and eventful evening is planned for Memorial Auditorium for Halloween. Several local and civic groups have combined their talents to provide entertainment for the youngsters in the first community effort of this type.

Miss Miriam Putnam, Andover chairman, reports that the Andover quota of $18,027 in the Community Chest Drive is nearing the half way mark. The meeting of the Greater Lawrence Red Feather agency was held at the Andover Guild.

Led by Charlie Dwyer, the Pynchard High football team took Stoneham into camp last Saturday 27-0 for its fifth win of the season.

10 Years Ago - October, 1964

The Capital Expenditures Study committee says the town's tax rate could increase steadily from the present $33 to $43 by 1970.

Considerable opposition is presented at a planning board hearing on the proposed rezoning of land at Lowell street and Route 93 for a shopping center.

The Andover Taxpayers Association has announced its support for construction of new 1,200 member high school for the town.

The selectmen this week approved the appointment of John Avery as town engineer. He has been acting town engineer since last December.

No. Reading Hockey Group Has Openings

The North Reading Skating Association has a limited number of openings for its intramural house league teams. The leagues play at Merrimack College and Brooks school once a week and on weekends, for about 22 weeks. Because of the proximity of the rink, Andover is the only town being contacted about openings at present. Those persons born between 1967 and 1958 should contact Mr. Sands, 20 Hickory Lane or Mr. Rooney, Anthony Road, in North Reading.

At the close of the last season an extra large Rob Scott blue sweater was found at the Merrimack College rink. The owner may contact Mr. Sands.

Reformation Celebration On Sunday

A Reformation Celebration will be held at Faith Lutheran Church this coming Sunday, Oct. 27.

During the 9:30 a.m. Sunday School hour the children will be creating their own list of "Theses" (things they would like to change in the Church), and will then celebrate the 457th birthday of the Lutheran Church with a birthday cake and candles.

During the 11 a.m. service the children will be participating in a Sunday School orchestra, will put on a puppet show for the congregation in which the events of the first Reformation Day are recreated, and will sing some special songs for the occasion.

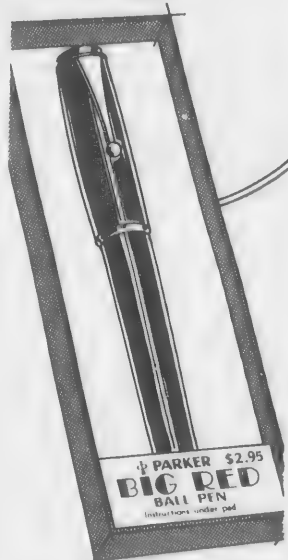

A special feature of the day will be a display of crosses that were created and designed by the children of the Sunday School during their free time. The congregation will be asked to judge the crosses for most unusual choice of materials, most artistic, most original design and construction, and best attempt to express the Christian faith. Winners will be announced on Nov. 3.

Coordinating the program for the Sunday School and Service is Mrs. Ethel Olsen.

Preparing For Fair

Katherine and Karen Robinson work on some dried flower arrangements along with other items that will be offered at the annual fair of Ballard Vale United Church scheduled for Nov. 1 and 2.

Ballardvale Fair Nov. 1-2

Ballard Vale United Church Fair arrives one month earlier this year in "Celebration of the Harvest Home." Hours will be from 4 p.m. - 9 p.m. on Friday, Nov. 1 and from 10 a.m. - 4 p.m. on Saturday, Nov. 2.

Continuing the traditions set in previous years will be a snack bar supervised by Lorna MacIntyre and featuring New England fish chowder. Alternate menus this year will be a fried chicken plate, hot dogs, and pizza. This menu will be offered both Friday and Saturday. Coffee and home baked dessert will be available throughout fair hours. Added this year will be home baked loaves of braided bread.

Beth Myszewski will return with her potter's wheel and gift items selling for ten dollars or less that include pitchers, mugs, wind bells, pie dishes, planters, and animal stocking stuffers. You may patronize the potter's room by taking your turn at the wheel and if the product turns out well you may choose to have it fired and glazed as well. Hours will be Friday 4-9 and Saturday noon to 4.

Margot Porter will return offering to make miniature silhouettes during a ten minute sitting. Her hours will be Friday between 4 and 7.

Other booths returning will be: bakery products by Millie Davison; plants by Elaine Peterson; attic treasures by Edna MacIntyre; fall and Christmas decorations by Barbara Itz; aprons by Hazel Milligan and Winnie Butler; country store by Ralph and Ruth Sharpe; and children's shopping corner by Audrey Nason.

The church youth are contributing much time and talent. Senior high youth have completed posters appearing around town. Junior highs will provide a children's handicraft room where parents may leave children for a small fee while they shop leisurely. Youth craftsmen and artists will offer their items for sale. They are: Nancy Darling, thumbprint ink sketches; Laura Skellchock machine sewing pillows, dancing dolls; Karen and Kathie Robinson, Sesame street hand puppets, dried flowers, hand painted and decorative items; Scott Mattheson, leaded glass window decorations.

New features this year will be several people demonstrating their skills on Saturday between 10-11:30 a.m. and 1:30-3 p.m. Leather working will be shown by Eric Mears, wood working by Ernest (Sonny) Bienvenue, weaving by Barbara Itz, machine sewing by Laura Skellchock.

A hand-crafted doll and owl pillow have been made and donated by Marilyn Pratt. Winnie Butler has made a quilt. Nancy Lydigen will offer her ceramics. Diane Ely will supervise the children's game room. Ruth Mattheson will offer knits and crocheted items.

General chairmen for this year's fair are Mr. and Mrs. James McLeod and Mr. and Mrs. Richard Heidt. Table chairman is Louise Mears, decorations, Helen Webb; and publicity, Joyce Robinson.

To Honor Christian Marriage

One of the loveliest services is being prepared for the celebration of Christian Marriage Sunday at the Free Christian Church on Sunday-next, October 27. Through the years many couples were united either in the church or by its ministers in their homes, which means that more than 150 invitations were sent out recently to those still in town or in the area, to attend next Sunday's morning-service. Consequently, couples who were married there but a few weeks back with so many of the "between-years" will be attending.

The music, singing and sermon will revolve around the theme - "The Sanctity of Christian Marriage", white-ribboned pews will be reserved for the special guests, the sanctuary will be decorated with wedding-flowers, and presentations made. Following the service there will be a coffee-hour in the Parish Hall during which the guests will be invited to sign the special Wedding Register which will afterwards go into the church-archives to commemorate the occasion.

It may be because of an omission or error in the records that an invitation has not arrived for someone who was married through Free Church but it is hoped that in such an event this report will be accepted as an invitation. All invitees are requested to make known to the ushers who they are so they may be escorted to the reserved-pews. The service is, of course, open to all.

Nursery Registration

Christ Church Nursery School registration is now open for the next school year, beginning in September, for children who will be age 4 by Dec. 31, 1975. One fourth of the registration is reserved for children who are socially or economically disadvantaged. Those wishing to register a child may contact Mrs.

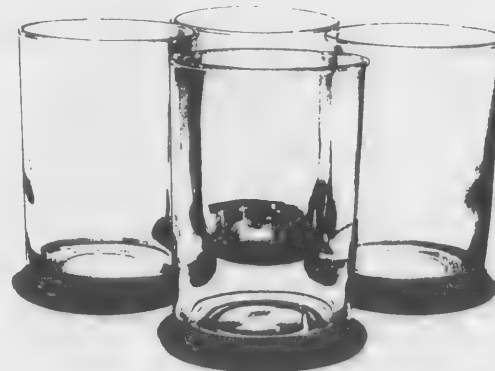

Ruth Clark or Mrs. Sarah Warren.

Doherty Heads College Fund Drive

An Andover insurance executive has been formally commissioned to head the Merrimack College $300,000 scholarship fund drive.

James D. Doherty, Treasurer and General Manager of the Doherty Insurance Agencies of Andover and North Andover, was named as Scholarship Fund Chairman in a joint announcement by Men of Merrimack President Milton C. Abramson of Boston and Merrimack College President V. Rev. John R. Aherne, O.S.A.

Doherty had previously served as Men of Merrimack President from June, 1972 to June, 1974.

The Scholarship Fund Drive was initially announced in June at the 22nd Annual Dinner of Merrimack's honorary alumni organization. Fr. Aherne said that the purpose of the three year fund drive was to augment the $300,000 in scholarship aid distributed annually to Merrimack students from the college's operating funds.

With the added scholarship funding from the Men of Merrimack, Fr. Aherne said that Merrimack could begin to solve what he saw as the current crisis in private education, "providing necessary scholarship assistance to deserving college students while trying to hold the line on tuition despite the encroachment of inflationary operating expenses."

Answering the call of the Merrimack College president, the Men of Merrimack immediately pledged $72,000 toward the projected annual $100,000 goal for the next three years. Initial pledges made that evening were: $36,000 from Haverhill industrialist Louis H. Hamel; $16,000 from the Stearns Foundation; $10,000 from the Gillette Toiletries Co.; and $10,000 from Malden contractor and college trustee S. Peter Volpe.

A two-term past president of the Men of Merrimack, Doherty was born and educated in Andover. He is a 1937 graduate of Boston College and entered the insurance business following graduation.

He is currently treasurer and general manager of the Doherty Insurance Agencies of Andover and North Andover. He is also a trustee of the Doherty Realty Agency, Inc. He has served as past president of the Insurance Federation of Massachusetts as well as the Independent Insurance Agents Association of Greater Lawrence.

A Fourth Degree Knight of Columbus and past president of the Holy Name Society, Doherty has been active in fund drives on behalf of St. Augustine's Parish in Andover. He is also a member of the Kiwanis Club and the Bon Secours Guild.

He is married to the former Sheila M. Dalton of Lawrence. The Dohertys are the parents of five children and reside in Andover.

Wildlife Behavior

Massachusetts Audubon Society's Ipswich River Wildlife Sanctuary is planning a four session course on protective coloration and other survival devices used by animals in the wild. Color, texture, motions and other adaptations will be illustrated and discussed, and the class will be given an opportunity to test its own ability to disguise and observe. At least one meeting will be devoted to the behavior patterns, migration and hibernation. Native species will be used as examples and it is hoped that participants will acquire a greater understanding of the problems of wild animals in man's world.

Animal Adaptations will meet on Saturday mornings at the Ipswich River Nature Center on Cherry Street in Wenham starting Nov. 2. Although the course is intended for teachers and youth group leaders, it is open to everyone who feels a concern for wildlife. Enrollment is limited and prior registration is required.

Graphic Art On Exhibit At Museum

Francisco Goya's artistic eye focused on the vices of society, the horrors of war, the drama of a bullfight. Moralist, social critic, and champion of liberty, this 18th century Spaniard provided a personalized visual record of his society - hard-hitting commentaries with a timeless impact. The Changing Image: Prints by Francisco Goya on exhibition at the Boston Museum of Fine Arts, October 25 through December 29, will provide an in-depth look at Goya's graphic art.

He was an energetic print-maker - continually developing artistically. As he worked toward a final proof, Goya's plan for a print's design and imagery changed. The changing image can be traced in this exhibition which offers a rare "look over Goya's shoulder" at preliminary drawings and progressive proofs of a print demonstrating the artist's method of working. Almost 300 drawings, etchings, and lithographs will be on view.

Four major series in etching and aquatint - the Disasters of War, the Caprichos, the Disparates (Follies), and the Tauromaquia (Art of Bullfighting) - examine the recurring themes most often associated with Goya.

Because of the repressive political climate of the times, Goya did not dare publish many of his prints - often veiled attacks against Church and State - during his lifetime. The Disasters of War and the Disparates were published after the artist's death, long after the social and civil chaos of the period had subsided. The Changing Image will exhibit these two series for the first time as Goya meant them to be seen.

Three Spanish collections have generously contributed outstanding loans to this exhibition: the Prado, the Fundacion Lazaro Galdiano, and the Biblioteca Nacional. Other lenders include major European and American museums.

The Boston Museum has recently acquired 126 etchings, seven drawings, and a miniature on ivory. The new group has made Boston an even more important center for the study of this Spanish master. The collection of Goya prints now ranks as the finest outside of Spain, and perhaps the most exciting in the world.

A portion of the exhibition will be devoted to explaining the techniques of printmaking. An illustrated catalogue published in conjunction with the exhibition will be available through the Museum Shop. The Changing Image is supported in part by a grant from the National Endowment for the Arts in Washington, D.C., a Federal agency. From Boston it will travel to the National Gallery in Canada, Ottawa, where it will open Jan. 24, 1975.

Hot Line Service

The busiest telephone in the Commonwealth right now seems to be the Massachusetts Department of Agriculture's newly-installed Food Shopper's Hot Line, the MDA reports this week.

The toll-free number has been ringing without let-up, proving the concept even more popular than expected.

As originally installed, the unit can handle 20 calls per hour. Additional lines are in the process of being put in to handle the volume.

The number - called without charge from anywhere in Massachusetts, is 1-800-392-6026. If you're totally frustrated, however, you can call the MDA Division of Markets at (617) 727-3018. This is a regular line, not toll-free.

The Hot line is a permanent installation, operating 24 hours a day. It carries a three-minute message - recorded bi-weekly, on Monday and Thursday mornings - containing current retail best food buys, as well as nutritional, menu and recipe suggestions. It was instituted by the MDA in a further effort to help fight inflation, and keep families well and properly fed.

Since it is a public service, says the MDA, special requests and suggestions are invited. A note addressed to "Hot Line," Massachusetts Department of Agriculture, 100 Cambridge St., Boston 02202, with comments and suggestions will be welcomed. Recipes using current best buys are suggested on the Hot Line, but not detailed. Requests for recipes will be filled promptly if you send a stamped, self-addressed envelope to the above address.

This is our new Model 100 series for moderate hauling. We could have aptly called it "easy rider," it's that smooth . . . that quiet. A totally new independent coil spring front suspension on the two-wheel drive model steps over bumps lightly. The front wheel track is wider by 4 inches to improve roll stability and handling. Rear leaf springs are underslung for a lower center of gravity. And the rear shocks are staggered to reduce "wheel hop," especially when you're driving with a light load. It all works together to produce what we think is one of the smoothest handling pickups on the road.

Savings Bank Group Views Financing Role

A special report "On the Role of the Savings Banking Industry in Financing Massachusetts Housing" prepared by the Savings Banks Association of Massachusetts says that: "Throughout the past thirty years, mortgages have represented the best consumer bargain available in Massachusetts. What better 'buy' was there than the 5% mortgage of ten years ago, or even the 7% mortgage of five years ago? What other portion of the family budget remains fixed for twenty-five years? If somebody contracted to sell a family food or some other product at a fixed price for twenty-five years, they would soon be bankrupt. Throughout this period one of the best investments available in Massachusetts would have been to buy homes and finance them with savings bank mortgages. Furthermore, mortgage rates in Massachusetts have almost always been below national average.

Emphasizing that savings banks do not cause periods of "tight money" the report says: "Two developments have brought the traditional long-term fixed-rate mortgage to the brink of extinction. The first of these is the continuous rate of inflation which has characterized the U.S. economy since World War II. The rate of return on fixed rate mortgage dominated savings bank portfolios has failed to keep pace with other interest rates in the economy, with the result that more and more depositors have withdrawn their funds to seek higher rates elsewhere. This process has been particularly acute in the last fourteen months, with August and September, 1974 having been the worst two deposit flow months in Massachusetts savings bank history."

Noting that "Massachusetts savings banks, and their sister thrift industries, co-operative banks and savings and loan associations, have for many years invested most of their deposits in mortgages, and financed almost all of Massachusetts' mortgage needs," the report goes on to say:

• "A 1972 study shows that savings banks finance approximately two thirds of the new mortgages of 1-4 family homes each year, about half the new mortgages on multiple family units, and cumulatively hold mortgages on about 40% of all Massachusetts housing units."

• Taken together, savings and loan associations, co-operative banks, and the savings banks raise the thrift industry mortgage lending to 90% of the new mortgages each year for 1-4 family homes; over half of the new mortgages on multiple family units, and total outstanding of over half of the housing units in Massachusetts. "(As many properties are owned 'free and clear' the percentage of total mortgaged units would be substantially higher.)"

• "The net growth in Massachusetts mortgages held by savings banks has exceeded the deposit inflow by $713 million during the past 14 months. The excess having been financed by liquidation of over $600 million of securities and $91 million of out-of-state mortgages."

Thus, the report continues, "Savings banks use securities, and to a lesser extent out-of-state mortgages, to 'store' funds not needed in Massachusetts mortgage markets during periods of high deposit inflow, and later utilize these funds to meet Massachusetts mortgage needs when deposit flows slow down. If it were not for this practice, the cutback in available mortgage funds in Massachusetts during the past fourteen months would have been approximately 400% more severe than it has been."

Citing the many problems of housing in mature urban areas, the report states that, "Increasingly banks find themselves in a 'No-Win' situation". On the one hand, they are criticized for escalating residential values on older homes when mortgage funds are available, but on the other hand for holding down values if mortgage loans are not available.

"In this regard, it must be noted that in no city in the United States has a successful method of financing housing in mature urban areas been developed which has both operated on the magnitude necessary and withstood the test of time."

The report also notes that the "Total of all residential mortgages outstanding in Massachusetts is in excess of $20 billion, and the annual rate of increase approximates $2 billion", and that the "Massachusetts House Finance Agency, perhaps the nation's most successful semi-public home financing agency, has reached a volume which finances only approximately 10% of the new housing units in Massachusetts."

More Puffin

There are 54 new puffins in Maine coastal waters this autumn as a result of an experiment carried out by Stephen W. Kress of the Cornell Laboratory of Ornithology.

The puffin, in case you have forgotten, is a short, plump bird that looks like a small penguin hiding behind an enormous parrot bill. In breeding season, bands of yellow, blue-gray and vermillion make the huge bill a colorful spectacle.

Prior to 1900 the edibility of puffin eggs almost extirpated puffins from the southern rim of their range. Too many potential puffins were truncated sunny-side-up in Maine and Canadian skillet. Apparently there never were many puffins on the Maine coastal inlands. The bird is an arctic resident, more acclimated to the frigid barrenness of Greenland. Even in winter, puffins rarely venture as far south as Massachusetts.

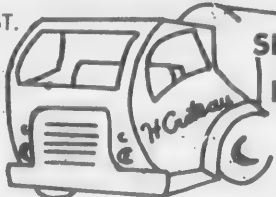

Until Kress carried out the transplant last summer, Matinicus Rock, with possibly 80 to 100 pairs, was the only confirmed breeding area for puffins in Maine waters. The presence of a few pairs in summer around Old Man Island made it a possible breeding site. Otherwise, the nearest southern breeding island was Machais Seal, which is a Canadian island just off the Maine coast, far downeast.

Financed by a grant from the National Audubon Society and a few wealthy contributors, Kress removed 68 puffin chicks, each about two weeks old, from burrows on Great Island.

Record Quarter At Standex

Standex International Corporation (NYSE) held a Special Meeting in lieu of the annual meeting of stockholders in The First National Bank of Boston building recently. The shareholders voted favorably, in person or by proxy, on all matters brought before the meeting.

The Company received a favorable vote on its proposal to change the state of incorporation of the Company from Ohio to Delaware. Approval of the holders of two-thirds of the outstanding shares of the Company's common stock was required, and the proposal was approved by a vote of over 75 per cent.

Daniel E. Hogan, President of Standex International, reviewed the "excellent results" of the last fiscal year, which ended June 30, 1974, and expressed optimism that - - barring severe economic problems - - Standex expected fiscal 1975 to be another record year in both sales and earnings. In fiscal 1974, the Company earned $2.48 per share and Mr. Hogan said that the company is "now hopeful of achieving an increase in earnings of 10 - 15 per cent in the current year." He estimated that sales in the current fiscal year should approximate $200 million - - up from $175 million in the fiscal year just ended.

In the first fiscal quarter ended Sept. 30, Mr. Hogan stated that sales would be approximately $44 million - - up about 9 per cent from the $41 million realized in last year's first quarter. Earnings per share would also exceed last year's 51 cents per share by about the same percentage or slightly more, Mr. Hogan stated. He added that the first quarter would set new records for the Company.

Mr. Hogan also announced that Standex plans to spin-off its 60 per cent interest in Comtelco Limited of England via a distribution of its stock as a special dividend to Standex stockholders. Comtelco manufactures and markets products for the telecommunications industry. Founded late in 1971 as a new venture, Comtelco's products are now being tested by leading manufacturers of telephone systems both in Europe and the United States.

Mr. Hogan stated that, while Comtelco is still "in its embryonic stages," its research and development work is largely behind it, its prototype products have been proven to be effective and superior, its products and specially - designed automated machinery has been patented, and the division now holds a great deal of promise for success. Mr. Hogan added that the stock distribution could be very rewarding to the stockholders of Standex.

$3 Million Contract For Itek

Itek Corporation's Optical Systems Division has been awarded a $3 million contract from the government of South Korea. The announcement was made by Dr. Edward Miller, president of the division. It is the first major foreign sale of the division's equipment, and culminates more than a year of negotiations.

Miller said that the competitive contract was awarded on the basis of the division's ability to perform the highly sophisticated technical work required. It is expected that the contract will generate additional sales in South Korea, as well as sales of similar equipment to other countries.

QUESTION NO. 1

PROPOSED AMENDMENT TO THE CONSTITUTION

Do you approve of the adoption of an amendment to the constitution summarized below, which was approved by the General Court in a joint session of the two branches held August 25, 1971, received 212 votes in the affirmative and 39 in the negative, and in a joint session of the two branches held June 6, 1973, received 235 votes in the affirmative and 19 in the negative?

YES

NO

SUMMARY

The proposed constitutional amendment, if approved, would replace the present Article 52 of the Articles of Amendment to the Constitution of the Commonwealth and would empower the General Court, by concurrent vote of the two houses, to take a recess or recesses amounting to not more than thirty days. The present Article 52 permits such recesses but provides that "no such recess shall extend beyond the sixtieth day" from the beginning of the legislative session.

QUESTION NO. 2

PROPOSED AMENDMENT TO THE CONSTITUTION

Do you approve of the adoption of an amendment to the constitution summarized below, which was approved by the General Court in a joint session of the two branches held August 25, 1971, received 177 votes in the affirmative and 65 in the negative, and in a joint session of the two branches held June 6, 1973, received 166 votes in the affirmative and 93 in the negative?

YES

NO

SUMMARY

The proposed constitutional amendment, if approved, would provide for a census in the year 1975 and every tenth year thereafter of the inhabitants of each city and town as a basis for determining the representative, senatorial and councillor districts for the ten year period beginning with the first Wednesday in the fourth January following the taking of the census, provided that the districts as established based on the 1971 census shall terminate on the first Wednesday in January, 1979. The census shall specify the number of inhabitants residing in each precinct of a town and each precinct and ward of a city.

Under the proposed amendment, the House of Representatives would consist of 160 members, in contrast to the present membership of 240, and the Senate of 40 members. The General Court would, at its first regular session after the year in which the census is taken, divide the Commonwealth into 160 representative districts and 40 senatorial districts of contiguous territory so that each representative and each senator will represent an equal number of inhabitants as nearly as may be; and such districts shall be formed, as nearly as may be, without uniting two counties or parts of two or more counties and, with respect to representative districts, without uniting, as nearly as may be, two towns or parts of two or more towns, two cities or parts of two or more cities, or a city and a town, or parts of cities and towns, into one district, and without dividing any town containing less than 2500 inhabitants. The General Court would be permitted to pass laws to limit the time within which judicial proceedings may be instituted calling in question any such division. The proposed amendment further provides that every representative, for one year at least immediately preceding his election, shall have been an inhabitant of the district for which he is chosen, and every senator shall be an inhabitant of this Commonwealth for five years at least preceding his election and at the time of his election shall be an inhabitant of the district for which he is chosen. Every representative and senator shall cease to represent his district when he shall cease to be an inhabitant of the Commonwealth. The manner of calling and conducting the elections for representatives and for senators and councillors, and of ascertaining their election, shall be prescribed by law. The amendment vests original jurisdiction in the Supreme Judicial Court, upon petition of any voter of the Commonwealth, filed with the clerk of said court, for judicial relief relative to the establishment of House of Representatives, councillor and senatorial districts.

PROPOSED AMENDMENT TO THE CONSTITUTION

Do you approve of the adoption of an amendment to the constitution summarized below, which was approved by the General Court in a joint session of the two branches held June 7, 1972, received 250 votes in the affirmative and 3 in the negative, and in a joint session of the two branches held June 6, 1973, received 253 votes in the affirmative and 0 in the negative?

YES

NO

SUMMARY

The proposed constitutional amendment would repeal section 2 of Article 46 of the Articles of Amendments to the Constitution of the Commonwealth (the "anti-aid amendment", so-called), and replace it with a new section 2, for the purpose of allowing grants in aid to private higher educational institutions or to students, or parents or guardians of students, attending such institutions.

The proposed amendment would delete the first clause of the present section 2, which requires that all moneys raised by taxation in the towns and cities for the support of public schools, and all moneys appropriated by the Commonwealth for the support of common schools shall be applied to or expended in only those schools conducted according to law under the order and superintendence of the authorities of the town or city in which the money is expended. The effect of the deletion of the first clause of section 2 would be to remove the constitutional prohibition against the use of public moneys, which have been raised by taxation or appropriated for support of public schools, for grants in aid to private higher educational institutions or to students, or parents or guardians of students, attending such institutions.

The proposed amendment would also alter the second clause of the present section 2 by removing the prohibition against a grant, appropriation or use of public money or property or loan of public credit by the Commonwealth or any political subdivision for the purpose of founding, maintaining or aiding any school or institution of learning, whether under public control or otherwise, wherein any denominational doctrine is inculcated, or any other school or any college which is not publicly owned and under the exclusive control, order and superintendence of public officers or public agents. In place of the foregoing, the proposed amendment would prohibit the grant, appropriation or use of public money or property or loan of credit by the Commonwealth or any political subdivision for the purpose of founding, maintaining or aiding any primary or secondary school which is not publicly owned and under the exclusive control, order and superintendence of public officers or public agents.

The proposed amendment would also add to the present section 2 a provision that nothing therein shall be construed to prohibit grants in aid to private higher educational institutions or to students, or parents or guardians of students, attending such institutions.

QUESTION NO. 4

LAW PROPOSED BY AN INITIATIVE PETITION

Do you approve of the adoption of an amendment to the constitution summarized below, which was approved by the General Court in a joint session of the two branches held May 17, 1972, received 131 votes in the affirmative and 121 in the negative, and in a joint session of the two branches held May 8, 1974, received 139 votes in the affirmative and 119 in the negative?

YES

NO

SUMMARY

The proposed constitutional amendment would revise Article 78 of the Articles of Amendment to the Constitution to permit the expenditure of money from the highway fund for mass transportation lines and other mass transportation purposes in such manner as the Legislature may direct. The highway fund includes receipts from fees, duties, excises and license taxes relating to registration, operation or use of motor vehicles and taxes from the sale of motor vehicle fuels. The expenditure of money from such fund is presently restricted to highway and bridge construction, reconstruction, maintenance and repair, enforcement of state traffic laws, and administration of the tax statutes which provide highway fund receipts.

QUESTION NO. 5

LAW PROPOSED BY AN INITIATIVE PETITION

Do you approve of a law summarized below which was disapproved in the House of Representatives by a vote of 73 in the affirmative and 150 in the negative and was disapproved in the Senate by a vote of 16 in the affirmative and 22 in the negative?

NO

SUMMARY

Provisions of the act establish an independent Corrupt Practices Commission, with five members to be appointed by the Governor to staggered five year terms. The Commission has subpoena powers and is to investigate, by means of secret hearings, candidates' compliance with all state and federal laws relating to political campaign contributions and expenditures and corrupt practices. If probable cause is shown, the Commission is required to direct the Attorney General to take further action in the proper form and is required to make public a report of such action. In cases involving the campaign practices of the Attorney General himself, a special attorney is to be appointed. If no probable cause is shown, the Commission is to state so publicly.

Further, the proposed act extends the application of the current statute regarding the disclosure of campaign expenditures and contributions, to all candidates for office above the town and city level, with the exception of President and Vice President of the United States. The act requires all such candidates to receive and disburse all amounts greater than $25 by check, and makes it a crime to knowingly receive cash payment from a candidate or his committee for a service costing more than $25. The act also requires candidates to designate a single bank as depository of funds and as recordkeeper, with records of receipts and expenditures to be open to public scrutiny.

Provisions of the act extend present campaign spending limits to cover all media expenses and require all media firms (including: television, radio, newspaper, billboard, magazine, advertising, public relations, printing, opinion polling, computer, telephone, telegraph) to report the purchase of media services by candidates. Media expenses of candidates for the offices of district attorney, clerk of court, register of probate and insolvency, register of deeds, county commissioner, county treasurer and sheriff are limited to $.07 for each resident of the respective electoral district. Other provisions of the act require candidates, upon official announcement or filing of nomination papers, to report all political receipts and expenditures since the date of the last general election for the office sought, and count such expenditures toward spending limits. The act also limits candidates to one political committee.

The act establishes a maximum penalty of one year imprisonment and/or $10,000 fine for individuals engaged in corrupt practices, and a $50,000 fine for corporations so involved. In addition, the Attorney General is permitted to bring an action for the removal of a candidate whose election was materially aided by corrupt practices on the part of the candidate or one acting in his behalf, where such removal is otherwise authorized by law.

Unemployment Levels Are Unchanged

Employment in Massachusetts was at record high levels in the months of June, July, and August, according to John D. Crosier, Director of the Division of Employment Security.

Total employment, at an all-time peak in June, fell off seasonally in July as vacation closings of many factories and establishments temporarily idled thousands of workers who were not entitled to vacation pay. After reopenings, employment picked up again in August reaching the highest level ever recorded for that month.

Over the year from August 1973 to August 1974, nonagricultural employment in Massachusetts increased by 31,500 with 9,300 of this number in the important durable goods manufacturing sector. Machinery, electrical equipment and components, and ordnance were particularly strong.

Durable goods employment reached a four-year peak in June, dipped during July vacation closings, and rebounded in August to a five-year high for that month. Every industry in the durables sector shared in the rebound.

Nonmanufacturing payrolls hit an all-time record of 1,765,600 in June, and then declined seasonally during July and August. Despite these losses due to summer slowdowns, employment in nonmanufacturing was at record level for the month of August, standing 30,300 above the August 1973 level. Only two areas had lost ground during the year - employment in construction decreased by 4,400 and Federal government employment decreased by 3,600.

Unemployment in Massachusetts remained almost unchanged throughout the summer months. After seasonal adjustment, the unemployment rate was estimated at 8.0 percent of the labor force in June and July and 8.1 percent in August. In the June to August period, unemployment in the United States rose from 5.2 percent to 5.4 percent, but most of the large industrial states like California, Indiana, Michigan, New Jersey, New York, Pennsylvania and Massachusetts have had consistently higher rates.

The stubbornly high unemployment rate was due to more rapid growth in the state labor force than in employment opportunities. An exceptionally large seasonal influx of youth and housewives into the state labor force registered in June was followed by the net withdrawal of nearly as large a number in July and August.

A Federal formula prescribed by the U.S. Bureau of Labor Statistics is used by all states in estimating unemployment. Mr. Crosier noted that he and Mary B. Newman, Secretary of Manpower Affairs, have been concerned for some time about the probable overstatement of unemployment in Massachusetts due to several factors, such as the inclusion of large numbers of out-of-state college students in the Federal formula. Analytic studies indicate that if the formula is corrected to reflect the unusual representation of such students in Massachusetts, the unemployment rate will be somewhat lower than previously estimated. These studies are being reviewed with the U.S. Bureau of Labor Statistics.

Unemployment in the large metropolitan areas during the summer months is determined generally by the proportion of manufacturing in the economy of the area. Predominantly manufacturing areas like Fall River, Lawrence-Haverhill, Lowell, New Bedford, and Brockton experienced an abrupt jump in unemployment in July followed by a larger drop in August due to factory recalls and miscellaneous seasonal activities. However, unemployment in the larger trading centers like the Boston, Worcester, and Springfield - Chicopee - Holyoke Standard Metropolitan Statistical Areas (SMSA's) declined from June to July. In all of these areas except Worcester (where the labor force increased slightly more than employment).

Government Economy Role Reduction Is Suggested

The expansion of the private sector and a reduction of government's role in the New England economy was urged by Dr. James M. Howell, vice president and chief economist of the First National Bank of Boston.

Howell delivered a major economic paper before a conference of the Woodrow Wilson International Center for Scholars at the Smithsonian Institution. Also appearing were Professor D. Meadows of Dartmouth; John Buckley, vice president of Northeast Petroleum; John Cole, editor of the Maine Times, and Congresswoman Margaret Heckler (R-Mass). The all-day session was devoted to examining the economic prospects for New England in the 1980s.

"In a mature economy such as exists in Massachusetts," Howell said, "growth is not self-generating. We have no inherent or latent growth momentum. All new job opportunities must be consciously and deliberately created and nourished by helping existing firms get into activities with growth potential and by attracting industries from other regions into Massachusetts and New England.

"Mushrooming welfare costs," Howell continued, "are subtracted from local productive resources which create the real wealth necessary for jobs and for financing local and state services. The vicious chain reaction then forces governments (local, state and federal) to tax business and citizens at ever-higher rates, and a new ball and chain is attached to the economy."

Howell argued against the "no-growth" advocates by pointing out the total dependence of government, particularly state and local, on income from people who have jobs and businesses that make profits. "If we halt business growth, that in turn will only cause further growth of government expenditures and an even heavier taxation burden on business."

Also appearing at the conference were Elliot L. Richardson, Professor John P. Roche, Lincoln Goreon, Chester Cooper and Richard Darman.

PROPOSED AMENDMENT TO THE CONSTITUTION

Do you approve of the adoption of an amendment to the constitution summarized below, which was approved by the General Court in a joint session of the two branches held August 25, 1971, received 212 votes in the affirmative and 39 in the negative, and in a joint session of the two branches held June 6, 1973, received 235 votes in the affirmative and 19 in the negative?

YES

NO

SUMMARY

The proposed constitutional amendment, if approved, would replace the present Article 52 of the Articles of Amendment to the Constitution of the Commonwealth and would empower the General Court, by concurrent vote of the two houses, to take a recess or recesses amounting to not more than thirty days. The present Article 52 permits such recesses but provides that "no such recess shall extend beyond the sixtieth day" from the beginning of the legislative session.

PROPOSED AMENDMENT TO THE CONSTITUTION

Do you approve of the adoption of an amendment to the constitution summarized below, which was approved by the General Court in a joint session of the two branches held August 25, 1971, received 177 votes in the affirmative and 85 in the negative, and in a joint session of the two branches held June 6, 1973, received 166 votes in the affirmative and 93 in the negative?

YES

NO

SUMMARY

The proposed constitutional amendment, if approved, would provide for a census in the year 1975 and every tenth year thereafter of the inhabitants of each city and town as a basis for determining the representative, senatorial and councillor districts for the ten year period beginning with the first Wednesday in the fourth January following the taking of the census, provided that the districts as established based on the 1971 census shall terminate on the first Wednesday in January, 1979. The census shall specify the number of inhabitants residing in each precinct of a town and each precinct and ward of a city.

Under the proposed amendment, the House of Representatives would consist of 160 members, in contrast to the present membership of 240, and the Senate of 40 members. The General Court would, at its first regular session after the year in which the census is taken, divide the Commonwealth into 160 representative districts and 40 senatorial districts of contiguous territory so that each representative and each senator will represent an equal number of inhabitants as nearly as may be; and such districts shall be formed, as nearly as may be, without uniting two counties or parts of two or more counties and, with respect to representative districts, without uniting as nearly as may be, two towns or parts of two or more towns, two cities or parts of two or more cities, or a city and a town, or parts of cities and towns, into one district, and without dividing any town containing less than 2500 inhabitants. The General Court would be permitted to pass laws to limit the time within which judicial proceedings may be instituted calling in question any such division. The proposed amendment further provides that every representative, for one year at least immediately preceding his election, shall have been an inhabitant of the district for which he is chosen, and every senator shall be an inhabitant of the district for which he is chosen, for five years at least preceding his election and at the time of his election shall be an inhabitant of the district for which he is chosen. Every representative and senator shall cease to represent his district when he shall cease to be an inhabitant of the Commonwealth. The manner of calling and conducting the elections for representatives and for senators and councillors, and of ascertaining their election, shall be prescribed by law. The amendment vests original jurisdiction in the Supreme Judicial Court, upon petition of any voter of the Commonwealth, filed with the clerk of said court, for judicial relief relative to the establishment of House of Representatives, councillor and senatorial districts.

QUESTION NO. 3

PROPOSED AMENDMENT TO THE CONSTITUTION

Do you approve of the adoption of an amendment to the constitution summarized below, which was approved by the General Court in a joint session of the two branches held June 7, 1972, received 250 votes in the affirmative and 3 in the negative, and in a joint session of the two branches held June 6, 1973, received 253 votes in the affirmative and 0 in the negative?

YES

NO

SUMMARY

The proposed constitutional amendment would repeal section 2 of Article 46 of the Articles of Amendments to the Constitution of the Commonwealth (the "anti-aid amendment"), so-called, and replace it with a new section 2, for the purpose of allowing grants in aid to private higher educational institutions or to students, or parents or guardians of students, attending such institutions.

The proposed amendment would delete the first clause of the present section 2, which requires that all moneys raised by taxation in the towns and cities for the support of public schools, and all moneys appropriated by the Commonwealth for the support of common schools shall be applied to or expended in only those schools conducted according to law under the order and superintendence of the authorities of the town or city in which the money is expended. The effect of the deletion of the first clause of section 2 would be to remove the constitutional prohibition against the use of public moneys, which have been raised by taxation or appropriated for support of public schools, for grants in aid to private higher educational institutions or to students, or parents or guardians of students, attending such institutions.

The proposed amendment would also alter the second clause of the present section 2 by removing the prohibition against a grant, appropriation or use of public money or property or loan of public credit by the Commonwealth or any political subdivision for the purpose of founding, maintaining or aiding any school or institution of learning, whether under public control or otherwise, wherein any denominational doctrine is inculcated, or any other school or any college which is not publicly owned and under the exclusive control, order and superintendence of public officers or public agents. In place of the foregoing, the proposed amendment would prohibit the grant, appropriation or use of public money or property or loan of credit by the Commonwealth or any political subdivision for the purpose of founding, maintaining or aiding any primary or secondary school which is not publicly owned and under the exclusive control, order and superintendence of public officers or public agents.

The proposed amendment would also add to the present section 2 a provision that nothing therein shall be construed to prohibit grants in aid to private higher educational institutions or to students, or parents or guardians of students, attending such institutions.

QUESTION NO. 4

LAW PROPOSED BY AN INITIATIVE PETITION

Do you approve of the adoption of an amendment to the constitution summarized below, which was approved by the General Court in a joint session of the two branches held May 17, 1972, received 131 votes in the affirmative and 121 in the negative, and in a joint session of the two branches held May 8, 1974, received 139 votes in the affirmative and 119 in the negative?

YES

NO

SUMMARY

The proposed constitutional amendment would revise Article 78 of the Articles of Amendment to the Constitution to permit the expenditure of money from the highway fund for mass transportation lines and other mass transportation purposes in such manner as the Legislature may direct. The highway fund includes receipts from fees, duties, excises and license taxes relating to registration, operation or use of motor vehicles and taxes from the sale of motor vehicle fuels. The expenditure of money from such fund is presently restricted to highway and bridge construction, reconstruction, maintenance and repair, enforcement of state traffic laws, and administration of the tax statutes which provide highway fund receipts.

LAW PROPOSED BY AN INITIATIVE PETITION

Do you approve of a law summarized below which was disapproved in the House of Representatives by a vote of 73 in the affirmative and 150 in the negative and was disapproved in the Senate by a vote of 18 in the affirmative and 22 in the negative?

NO

SUMMARY

Provisions of the act establish an independent Corrupt Practices Commission, with five members to be appointed by the Governor to staggered five year terms. The Commission has subpoena powers and is to investigate, by means of secret hearings, candidates' compliance with all state and federal laws relating to political campaign contributions and expenditures and corrupt practices. If probable cause is shown, the Commission is required to direct the Attorney General to take further action in the proper form and is required to make public a report of such action. In cases involving the campaign practices of the Attorney General himself, a special attorney is to be appointed. If no probable cause is shown, the Commission is to state so publicly.

Further, the proposed act extends the application of the current statute regarding the disclosure of campaign expenditures and contributions, to all candidates for office above the town and city level, with the exception of President and Vice President of the United States. The act requires all such candidates to receive and disburse all amounts greater than $25 by check, and makes it a crime to knowingly receive cash payment from a candidate or his committee for a service costing more than $25. The act also requires candidates to designate a single bank as depository of funds and as recordkeeper, with records of receipts and expenditures to be open to public scrutiny.

Provisions of the act extend present campaign spending limits to cover all media expenses and require all media firms (including television, radio, newspaper, billboard, magazine, advertising, public relations, printing, opinion polling, computer, telephone, telegraph) to report the purchase of media services by candidates. Media expenses of candidates for the offices of district attorney, clerk of court, register of probate and insolvency, register of deeds, county commissioner, county treasurer and sheriff are limited to $0.07 for each resident of the respective electoral district. Other provisions of the act require candidates, upon official announcement or filing of nomination papers, to report all political receipts and expenditures since the date of the last general election for the office sought, and count such expenditures toward spending limits. The act also limits candidates to one political committee.

The act establishes a maximum penalty of one year imprisonment and/or $10,000 fine for individuals engaged in corrupt practices, and a $50,000 fine for corporations so involved. In addition, the Attorney General is permitted to bring an action for the removal of a candidate whose election was materially aided by corrupt practices on the part of the candidate or one acting in his behalf, where such removal is otherwise authorized by law.

Electric Co. Audit Completed

New England Electric System companies today released the results of a special audit by the Federal Power Commission (FPC).

The audit, requested by Congressman Michael Harrington in mid-May, related to company expenditures for advertising, public relations and lobbying activities.

The FPC devoted six weeks at the system's corporate headquarters in Westborough, auditing the companies' books. They concluded, "NEES operating companies have accounted for expenditures for advertising, public relations and lobbying activities in a manner which conforms in all material respects to the requirements of the Commission's Uniform System of Accounts prescribed for Public Utilities and Licensees."

John R. Stevens, director of Public Information and Advertising, commented on the report. "Naturally, we are pleased with the results of the FPC audit. As we said at the time, the System willingly submitted to an examination of our books. The results simply confirm our original statement that we have nothing to hide."

A voluntary tutor reading program was introduced by the U.S. Labor Department's Job Corps during the 1973 fiscal year.

To Honor Veterans Monday

Two Veterans Day services are scheduled by the Andover Patriotic Holiday Committee for Monday, Oct. 28, the first to be held at the Legion Lot in Spring Grove Cemetery at 10:30 a.m.

The second service will be held at 11:30 a.m. at the Shawsheen River bridge, Stevens Street.

This is a change from Veterans Day services of the past which have been scheduled for the one service at 11 a.m. at Spring Grove cemetery.

John L. Lewis, secretary of the Patriotic Holiday Committee reports that the change this year is to pay tribute in a memorial service to naval and marine comrades of all wars lost or buried at sea through the service at the Shawsheen River Bridge.

Participants are scheduled to meet at the Legion Hall at 9:30 a.m. to form a firing squad and color guard for the service.

The two services will be the same. Benjamin M. Brown, commander of Post 219, American Legion will deliver the opening remarks, and the prayer will be offered by James Caldwell, chaplain of Post 8. Commander John O'Connor of Veterans of Foreign Wars, Post 2128, will join with Commander Brown in placing wreaths and Rev. Richard Balmforth of Free Christian church will give the eulogy.

Gordon B. Cannon, chaplain of V.F.W. Post 2128, will give the benediction, and following the volley by the combined firing squads, James Galbiati will sound taps.

forest management. Those planning to attend should bring their lunch and their own hard hats, or borrow them at the park.

The program is sponsored by the Essex County Forestry Committee, Forest and Parks Division, County Extension Service at Essex Agricultural and Technical Institute, and is free of charge. The group will meet at the training academy building on the state park grounds.

Meeting On Flood Hazards

A Steering Committee on Flood Hazard Areas has recently been formed and will hold an informational meeting at Memorial Hall Library on Oct. 26 and 29 at 7:30 p.m.

Members of the Steering Committee include Atty. John F. McGarry, George Ziady, Mrs. James C. Keck, Mrs. David T. Riddiford and Assistant Town Manager Sheldon S. Cohen.

The meetings will provide an opportunity for the public to examine preliminary maps of flood hazard areas in Andover, issued recently by the U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD).

Questions and comments received from property owners will be put into a report to HUD.

Assistant Town Manager Cohen emphasized that these are preliminary maps. "HUD has begun by taking the maximum limits of possible flood hazard areas and is asking the Town for help in refining the definition of these areas," he said.

After receiving feedback from the town, HUD will issue definitive maps in two to five years. At that time, the town will have six months to appeal HUD's determinations.

Bargaining

Town Manager J. Maynard Austin, they had been informed that the manager would have to discuss matters with the selectmen. He questioned if the selectmen could not be agreeable to talking with the public safety representatives.

Chairman Milton Greenberg of the selectmen, said that under provision of the charter, only the town manager has the power to negotiate. The law states that he is charged with setting and establishing salaries with town employees, Greenberg said, noting further that a ruling by town counsel in 1971 emphasized the point that only the manager could negotiate.

The chairman did allow that the manager and selectmen can have policy sessions on collective bargaining.

Town Counsel Alfred L. Daniels said that he and the manager have attempted to bargain in good faith and that both the police and fire unions are not without remedy, noting that municipal employees now have greater remedy than when the collective bargaining act was passed. He said the firefighters had applied for a mediator.

Gibson said that retaining of a mediator would cost the town in the vicinity of $10,000 and did not think the town should be subject to such costs.

Town Manager Austin said that he looked to the selectmen for policy guidance since it would be foolish to execute a contract without discussing the matter with both the selectmen and finance committee to determine if the money would be provided to pay for it.

The selectmen informed Gibson and other police representatives in attendance that they were cognizant of their feelings.

Collective bargaining procedures by mutual agreement of the bargaining parties have been conducted in private, since the collective bargaining legislation was accepted at the local level several years ago.

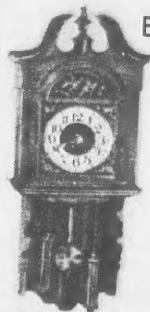

There was indication this week that some of the public safety employees might take their case to the public through picketing, but no decisions on this had been made by Wednesday.

Did you know that a $50 foot bridge over a brook was a controversial item at town meeting 75 years ago? You would if you followed the Down The Years column every Thursday in the TOWNSMAN.
